Inez Batters Florida's 'Gold Coast'

INEZ 'STALKING' FLORIDA. This window of a Miami Beach hotel must be one of the first to bite the dust in the early morning winds created by Inez today as she changed course and is now heading toward South Florida. (UPI Telephoto)

★ ★ ★ From Lauderdale To Keys ★ ★ ★

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez, in the 11th day of a wild rampage across tropic seas, attacked southeast Florida's glittering Gold Coast today with brawling gales, torrential rain and wild surf.

Power lines snapped in great showers of sparks, traffic lights danced crazily and fell, and angry waves tore at the white sand beaches as the hurricane raked the coast from Fort Lauderdale to the Florida Keys.

Seawalls crumbled as crashing surf dashed across low-lying streets and highways. Rickety signs blew down and bounced across roads, a peril to the few motorists who had to be on the streets.

Palm fronds, loose garbage cans and other small debris careened through sections exposed to the sharpest winds.

The first gust of hurricane strength, 75 miles an hour, slammed into Tavernier at the top of the chain of the Florida Keys at 8 a. m. Gales hitting a 60-mile clip hammered at the coast from Jupiter, north of Palm Beach, south to the Keys.

But with top winds of only 85 miles an hour, Inez was no longer the monstrous storm she had been when she raged through the Caribbean, killing possibly hundreds.

In Key Largo, power failed at 8 a.m. Clerks in boarded hotels and bars, who had been through this many times before, trimmed and lit hurricane lamps.

Many of the 2 million residents of the area had gone to bed believing they were out of danger. They awoke in the early morning darkness to the crashing thunder of wind and rain.

Frantically, they rigged storm shelters and rushed to stores that opened early to dispense canned goods, kerosene and candles.

Late Monday, Inez was heading northward toward Abaco Island in the Bahamas, away from Miami. By midnight, she was backpeddling on a west-southwest course aimed at the Florida Keys.

Never before had forecasters had a storm on their hands so hard to figure.

"The center should go ashore near Key Largo (40 miles south of Miami)," said Gordon Dunn, head of Miami's National Hurricane Center.

But Inez had crossed him up before, and he hastily added: "That is, unless she turns and goes in some other direction."

A couple of hours later an advisory said the storm "most likely" would not move across the Keys but would parallel them a little ways to the south. However, winds of hurricane force were expected to batter all the Keys.

While the eye of Inez was still 50 miles off shore, full gales whistled down Miami's palm-lined Biscayne Boulevard. Banana palms came crashing down and flashes of light marked power failures from Miami to Fort Lauderdale.

Angry winds churned Biscayne Bay into a wild fury. A houseboat was wedged under a bridge near the plush Fontainebleau Hotel. A 25-foot sailboat, driven ashore by gale winds Monday, was broken to pieces by smashing waves.

The surf tumbled across U.S. A1A at Fort Lauderdale, blocked streets in places and piled up sand dunes among the oceanside hotels.

A deluge of rain expected to reach 10 inches poured into the rich winter vegetable fields and gales tore avocados and limes off the trees.

Dawn found residents in Key Biscayne, a resort-residential island across the bay from Miami, sloshing around in wind and water trying to batten down storm shutters. Low-lying streets were under a foot of water.

A small fire started by a falling power line broke out in a clinic at Miami's giant Jackson Memorial Hospital, but was soon brought under control.

Highest tides were expected to reach six feet above normal south of Miami, which could mean heavy damage in the low-lying Keys.

Joe Lescinsky, who calls himself a beachcomber, heard a radio report at 7 a.m. at his home on Key Largo that Inez was coming. He went out on a "Paul Revere ride," awakening residents up and down the highway.

With high-pressure systems to the east and west hauling and tugging at her, Inez stood motionless for several hours Monday. Then she turned for Miami.

Chrysler's Set To Lay Off 38,000

May Idle All Of Labor Force Due To Strike In Ohio

DETROIT (AP) — Five days after introducing its new cars, Chrysler Corp. today took action to lay off more than 38,000 workers across the country by Thursday because of a stamping plant strike.

The nation's third-largest auto firm said it may idle virtually all its hourly rated labor force of 110,000 by the end of next week if a United Auto Workers strike is not ended at Chrysler's biggest stamping plant, in Twinsburg, Ohio.

Meanwhile, 4,850 UAW workers struck the main assembly plant of Ford Motor Co. of Canada at Oakville, Ont., Monday and 400 union members walked out of a General Motors Corp. parts depot at Livonia, Mich.

Chrysler began plant shutdowns Monday by laying off 8,100 workers at its Hamtramck assembly plant in suburban Detroit.

Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler president, said 14,300 workers would be sent home at the end of their shifts today in two assembly plants at Detroit and one at Newark, Del. Another 15,900 will be laid off at the close of shifts Wednesday in assembly plants at Belvidere, Ill.; St. Louis, Mo., and Windsor, Ont., the firm said. An additional 1,800 are slated for layoffs at the Los Angeles assembly plant at an undetermined time.

The shutdowns put a big crimp in Chrysler's production of 1967 models, and Townsend said the Twinsburg walkout "will benefit General Motors and Ford." The firm reported its sales in the last 10 days of September, including two days with 1967 models, were 16 per cent higher than in the same period of 1965.

U.S., Korean, Vietnamese Troops Assault Red Force

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American, Korean and Vietnamese troops drove from three sides today against a Communist force on which they already had inflicted a three-day toll of 478 killed or captured.

The allied troops kept up their pressure on a force of North Vietnamese army regulars and Viet Cong main force units operating in the mountains and lowlands near the coast of central Viet Nam 30 miles north of Qui Nhon.

The drive got under way Sunday when helicopter-borne troops of the U. S. 1st Cavalry Division (airmobile) launched the operation. Since then the Americans, bearing down from the north, have reported killing 291 Communists and capturing 131.

From the south, units of the Korean Tiger Division pressed northward in the Phu Cat Mountains and reported killing 52 of the enemy since Sunday.

From the west, South Vietnamese infantrymen and paratroopers worked toward the sea. They reported four Viet Cong killed.

U.S. and Vietnamese patrol boats waited offshore to intercept any of the hard-pressed Communists who might try to escape by sampan.

A U.S. spokesman said he did not know the size of the enemy force. In the initial contact Sunday, U.S. cavalrymen were opposed by an estimated 300 troops but the Communist force now is known to be much larger. One report said the North Vietnamese unit was the 610th Division.

U.S. casualties were reported light.

Little action was reported elsewhere in South Viet Nam.

The toll of U.S. helicopters went up, however, as a U.S. spokesman reported another chopper shot down during the fighting today on the central coast. It was the fourth lost since the operation, called Irving, started.

The U.S. Command also reported that an Air Force F100 Supersabre jet was shot down 35 miles west of Can Tho, in the Mekong Delta southwest of Saigon. The plane was making a napalm run against Viet Cong positions and was the 124th U.S. plane reported lost over South Viet Nam.

No major fighting was reported by U.S. Marines in the jungled mountains just south of the Demilitarized Zone, but U.S. B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese troop concentrations and infiltration routes there and 12 miles northwest of the Marine forward headquarters at Dong Ha.

Expansion Of War Seen By Dirksen

Doesn't Expect LBJ To Resort To Use Of Nuclear Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen predicted today the war in Viet Nam will have to be expanded soon.

However, Dirksen made it clear in an interview he does not expect President Johnson to resort to the use of nuclear weapons — an action GOP former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said he would not "automatically" preclude.

"Things can't go on like they are in Viet Nam," the senator from Illinois said. "You either escalate the fighting or think in some other terms. We can't surrender and we can't retreat."

Meanwhile, others had this to say about military action in Southeast Asia:

— The State Department: Its "information indicates" that Soviet missile specialists in North Viet Nam are limited strictly to training activities.

—Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Razak of Malaysia: "Well, I think so, yes. With the request of the South Viet Nam government," his country would probably send troops to South Viet Nam.

— Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., a leading critic of administration policy: What he called administration silence of the U.S. buildup in Thailand puts Congress in the position of "easily and compliantly — if not enthusiastically — "becoming the instrument of the President.

In predicting that the war will have to be expanded, Dirksen mentioned no troop buildup figures.

He said that the question of nuclear weapons was discussed by the GOP group but only in the context of their possible use "in an emergency, if your back was to the wall and there was nothing else to do."

Congressman Cites Maddox

Weltner Decides Against New Bid

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Democratic leaders in Atlanta and Fulton County, Georgia's most populous area, were seeking another candidate for Congress today after Rep. Charles L. Weltner announced he could not remain on the same ticket with segregationist Lester G. Maddox, Democratic nominee for governor.

Weltner's announcement Monday that he would not run for a third term stunned the state's Democratic party. And it put the burden of naming a new candidate upon the Fulton County Democratic Executive Committee since the primary is past.

Chairman Thomas S. Adair said he would call a meeting of the 85-member committee later this week, possibly Wednesday, to select an opponent for Republican Fletcher Thompson who was nominated by petition.

Weltner, 38, said constant criticism of the federal government and President Johnson have been "a poisonous injection into the body politic of this state.

"I cannot compromise with hate. I cannot vote for Lester Maddox."

Thus, he said he could not keep a pledge requiring Democratic primary candidates to vote for party nominees in the general election.

Among the first persons mentioned to replace Weltner on the Democratic ticket were Leroy Johnson, Georgia's first Negro state senator in 92 years; former Atlanta Mayor William B. Hartsfield and Wyman C. Lowe, a perennial candidate who lost to Weltner in the primary.

Johnson, who four years ago became Georgia's first Negro legislator in modern times, said he was serious about seeking the nomination.

Maddox, 51, who sold his restaurant rather than comply with a federal court order to serve Negroes, said the Democratic party "is becoming more conservative by the hour. I wonder how long it will be before the conservative strength of the Democratic party reaches all the way into the White House."

Rep. Howard H. (Bo) Callaway, Republican nominee for governor, said Weltner's withdrawal, though a surprise, "proves how foolish the Democratic pledge is. This is the sort of thing Mr. Weltner should have foreseen when he signed that oath."

26-Year-Olds May Get Call Into Service

Physicals Ordered For All 26-To-35 Now 1-A Or 1-A-O

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some young men who got past their 26th birthday on draft deferments may be called to military service after all.

Selective Service confirmed Monday night that it is ordering pre-induction physical examinations for all 26-to-35-year-olds who had deferments but are now classified 1-A or 1-AO.

The national recheck could produce about 50,000 potential draftees — about one month's quota in terms of this month's draft call.

A man's draft liability normally ends at his 26th birthday. But if he was deferred for any reason — often to continue his schooling — he is draft-eligible until age 35.

Deferments held past age 26 have in recent years meant draft exemption, because Selective Service has not inducted from the older group.

A spokesman said Monday night, however, that 28,153 men in the previously deferred 26-35 bracket already have been found qualified for service.

Local boards were ordered in an unpublicized move two weeks ago to give physicals to the remaining 41,780 men in this category. Under normal acceptance-rejection patterns, about half would pass the physical.

The spokesman said the completed inventory would indicate how many older men would be available if needed.

They would be placed in what is known as the fifth priority category for induction.

U.S. Presses Efforts To End Dispute

9,000 Returning To Jobs At Two Of GE's Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 9,000 union employes began returning to their jobs at two General Electric Corp. plants today as the government pressed its effort to end a contract dispute that could affect the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam.

Local issues had prompted the walkouts at plants in Schenectady, N.Y., and Pittsfield, Mass. As the union employes returned to work, government and military officials arranged a Pentagon briefing for GE and union negotiators.

Eleven unions have threatened a nationwide strike in two weeks unless agreement is reached on a new contract.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the service secretaries are to brief company and union officials on what Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz calls "the vital importance of continued production at GE to the national defense."

Wirtz called the afternoon meeting a procedural session and said negotiations to end the threat of a nationwide strike against the huge defense producer will resume immediately after the talks — perhaps at the Pentagon.

GE manufactures aircraft and helicopter engines and other military items.

The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and 10 associated unions agreed Sunday to a request by President Johnson to postpone the strike for two weeks.

But some 20,000 of GE's 120,000 union employes walked off the job at four plants after their contracts expired at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Local union leaders said the strikes involved local issues and thus were not affected by national negotiations.

The first shift appeared for work today at GE's Schenectady, N.Y. plant where union leaders voted Monday night to end a strike that idled 23,000 employes Monday. The walkout involved 3,500 IUE members and 500 members of other unions.

Fred Borch, GE president, said after a meeting with three Cabinet officers Monday the strikers were returning to their jobs.

Blaze Levels 2-Story Barn

Fire Breaks Out On Cunningham Farm

A two - story frame barn at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham of the Vodrey - Orchard Rd. was destroyed by a roaring fire that melted tar on the nearby home Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Cunningham heard the blaze about 2:10 and ran out to discover flames in the upper section of the barn reported to be about 100 years old.

Calcutta firemen arrived as the roof was falling in, and remained on the scene until 4:50.

Lost in the blaze were a corn planter, many bushels of oats, a large amount of hay and straw in one end, miscellaneous tools and a 14-foot boat parked beside the structure. New siding was installed on the barn four years ago, Cunningham said.

There was no livestock in the barn. Some small chickens in a run outside were saved, according to Cunningham, who works

Possible New Tax Revenue Benefits

W. Va. Urged To Look At Liquor-By-Drink Plan

CHARLESTON (AP) — A tax expert hired by the state reports West Virginians should give a hard look at opening the state to liquor by the drink for possible new tax revenue benefits.

Dr. James A. Papke of Purdue University told state legislators West Virginians must weigh "the cost of opening up West Virginia to the 20th century with the cost of not having . . ." liquor by the drink.

"The people ought to be appraised of what it costs to be so moral," Papke told a state legislature interim committee.

Papke, while not taking a stand for or against legalizing liquor by the drink, said it should be considered among possible tax recommendations which he has prepared for legislative review.

He said state government must learn how much the state loses in jobs, earnings and taxes by refusing to permit liquor by the drink.

The money issue must be weighed against "the benefits of temperance," he said.

West Virginians, in 1962, rejected a constitutional amendment which would have given the legislature power to legalize liquor by the drink. It was rejected, 349,000 to 229,977.

Papke's suggestion for a study of the facts was quickly answered by state liquor foe the Rev.

Chrysler's Set To Lay Off 38,000

May Idle All Of Labor Force Due To Strike In Ohio

DETROIT (AP) — Five days after introducing its new cars, Chrysler Corp. today took action to lay off more than 38,000 workers across the country by Thursday because of a stamping plant strike.

A man's draft liability normally ends at his 26th birthday. But if he was deferred for any reason — often to continue his schooling — he is draft-eligible until age 35.

Deferments held past age 26 have in recent years meant draft exemption, because Selective Service has not inducted from the older group.

A spokesman said Monday night, however, that 28,153 men in the previously deferred 26-35 bracket already have been found qualified for service.

Local boards were ordered in an unpublicized move two weeks ago to give physicals to the remaining 41,780 men in this category. Under normal acceptance-rejection patterns, about half would pass the physical.

The spokesman said the completed inventory would indicate how many older men would be available if needed.

They would be placed in what is known as the fifth priority category for induction.

Blaze Levels 2-Story Barn

Fire Breaks Out On Cunningham Farm

A two - story frame barn at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham of the Vodrey - Orchard Rd. was destroyed by a roaring fire that melted tar on the nearby home Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Cunningham heard the blaze about 2:10 and ran out to discover flames in the upper section of the barn reported to be about 100 years old.

Calcutta firemen arrived as the roof was falling in, and remained on the scene until 4:50.

Lost in the blaze were a corn planter, many bushels of oats, a large amount of hay and straw in one end, miscellaneous tools and a 14-foot boat parked beside the structure. New siding was installed on the barn four years ago, Cunningham said.

There was no livestock in the barn. Some small chickens in a run outside were saved, according to Cunningham, who works

U.S. Presses Efforts To End Dispute

9,000 Returning To Jobs At Two Of GE's Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 9,000 union employes began returning to their jobs at two General Electric Corp. plants today as the government pressed its effort to end a contract dispute that could affect the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam.

Local issues had prompted the walkouts at plants in Schenectady, N.Y., and Pittsfield, Mass. As the union employes returned to work, government and military officials arranged a Pentagon briefing for GE and union negotiators.

Eleven unions have threatened a nationwide strike in two weeks unless agreement is reached on a new contract.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the service secretaries are to brief company and union officials on what Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz calls "the vital importance of continued production at GE to the national defense."

Wirtz called the afternoon meeting a procedural session and said negotiations to end the threat of a nationwide strike against the huge defense producer will resume immediately after the talks — perhaps at the Pentagon.

GE manufactures aircraft and helicopter engines and other military items.

The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and 10 associated unions agreed Sunday to a request by President Johnson to postpone the strike for two weeks.

But some 20,000 of GE's 120,000 union employes walked off the job at four plants after their contracts expired at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Local union leaders said the strikes involved local issues and thus were not affected by national negotiations.

The first shift appeared for work today at GE's Schenectady, N.Y. plant where union leaders voted Monday night to end a strike that idled 23,000 employes Monday. The walkout involved 3,500 IUE members and 500 members of other unions.

Fred Borch, GE president, said after a meeting with three Cabinet officers Monday the strikers were returning to their jobs.

Possible New Tax Revenue Benefits

W. Va. Urged To Look At Liquor-By-Drink Plan

CHARLESTON (AP — A tax expert hired by the state reports West Virginians should give a hard look at opening the state to liquor by the drink for possible new tax revenue benefits.

Dr. James A. Papke of Purdue University told state legislators West Virginians must weigh "the cost of opening up West Virginia to the 20th century with the cost of not having . . ." liquor by the drink.

"The people ought to be appraised of what it costs to be so moral," Papke told a state legislature interim committee.

Papke, while not taking a stand for or against legalizing liquor by the drink, said it should be considered among possible tax recommendations which he has prepared for legislative review.

He said state government must learn how much the state loses in jobs, earnings and taxes by refusing to permit liquor by the drink.

The money issue must be weighed against "the benefits of temperance," he said.

West Virginians, in 1962, rejected a constitutional amendment which would have given the legislature power to legalize liquor by the drink. It was rejected, 349,000 to 229,977.

Papke's suggestion for a study of the facts was quickly answered by state liquor foe the Rev.

Board Prepares For Leasing Two School Buildings

Informal agreement to lease the high school and Memorial Auditorium buildings to the Kent State Academic Center here was voiced by the Board of Education during its meeting Monday night.

Formal approval will be given when the necessary lease papers are prepared by Solicitor Joseph Cooper. Members of the board agreed that the buildings should be leased to Kent State for 20 years, with an additional 20 year option.

Supt. Paul Blair reported Kent is using the classrooms at the high school four nights a week, having moved the activities there from Westgate School.

THE COLLEGE has improved the chemistry and biology facilities for its students and the high school students are being permitted to use the equipment, he pointed out.

Blair said he had hoped to have the lease prepared for study by the board, but the solicitor asked for a description of the premises of the two buildings.

A partial description was read, disclosing the high school was built in 1914 at a cost of about $125,000 and Memorial Auditorium was completed in 1945 at a cost of $250,000.

Blair pointed out that prior to Kent State locating in East Liverpool, surveys indicated 32 per cent of the graduating classes planned on attending college. Now about 50 per cent plan to attend, he said.

In other action, the board heard a report on the newly-instituted ROTC program and approved Sgt. Ben McCurdy as the non - commissioned officer for the ROTC. The board also authorized Blair to prepare a resolution approving an $25,000 indemnity bond for the safe keeping of government property and designating an official military property custodian for equipment.

This will be necessary when uniforms and other equipment begin to arrive at the high school.

MORE THAN 300 students have indicated a desire to join the program, which originally was planned for about 100. Blair said tentative plans call for confining the training to some 150 juniors and seniors.

Asked by Harry McConville, board member, as to why sophomores would be dropped, Blair said it is hoped to give all those going on to college in the next year or two an opportunity to participate.

It was pointed out three years of high school training are needed to qualify for a rank in the college ROTC programs.

The board still must employ an officer and another non-commissioned officer for the program. Blair said he will interview a retired officer from New Castle, Pa., Wednesday. An inspection is set this week by Army officials from Ft. Knox, Ky.

A letter was read from Elmer Davis of Cleveland, executive director of the Firearms Counsel, commending the school for instituting the program. Davis also urged that a hunter safety and firearms safety course be added to the program. The use of firearms will be part of the local training.

L. E. Crowson of South Charleston.

He said studies made by several states show its eventually costs more in penal, policing and rehabilitation services required by liquor by the drink than the states make in taxes on liquor.

He cited California, where he said a study showed that with liquor by the drink, "the state was spending upwards of $5.75 in direct measurable costs" for each liquor tax dollar brought in.

In other committee action Monday, an interim subcommittee reviewed arguments for and against a proposed uninsured motorists law for the state.

Such a law would require every auto liability policy sold in the state to include protection against injury or property damage caused by an uninsured driver.

It also would require motorists not having liability insurance to pay a fee — about $50 — in addition to the usual license fee at the time the auto license is purchased. This fee would be deposited in an uninsured motorist fund.

The proceeds from the fees would be reduced by administrative costs and then distributed among auto insurance companies according to the amount of insurance coverage written in the state.

The West Virginia Trial Lawyers Assn. has supported such a law, but attorneys for insurance firms have spoken out against it.

Several insurance company representatives Monday indicated a preference for requiring a mandatory fee in every auto liability policy for uninsured motorist coverage. The fee would be determined by the loss experience, they said.

After the fire broke out, Mrs. Cunningham took her baby to the nearby home of Mrs. Alva Cunningham, her mother-in-law, because of the heat of the flames which melted tar on the roof of the home 150 feet away.

Cunningham said he will rebuild the barn, which was partially covered by insurance. He estimated his actual loss at between $6,000 and $10,000, but said the expense of erecting a new barn would be larger.

Cause of the fire was not determined. Cunningham said there is no electrical wiring in it.

College Signs Student Year Before Opening

BEAVER—The Beaver County Community College — which will not begin operations until next year — accepted its first student at a meeting of the trustees Monday night.

Luther Harrison of Aliquippa, who will attend the Allegheny Community College for a year, was enrolled as the initial student.

Trustees last night also interviewed a South Carolina educator as a candidate for president of the college, and plan to interview other candidates this week.

A committee was named to prepare a detailed budget for adoption at the next meeting.

Law Figure Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward B. Burling, 96, who helped train many young lawyers, some of whom became prominent government officials, died Monday. Burling practiced law in Chicago until 1917 when he came to Washington to serve as chief counsel of the United States Shipping Board throughout World War I.

Jury Verdict Slated Today In Burglary

A jury verdict is expected today at Lisbon in the trial of Gail P. Freeman of 155 Thompson Ave., charged with a burglary May 10 at the Gus Raimond Shoe Repair Shop on Broadway here.

A key witness for the state Monday was William E. McDaniel, now chief of police at Wayne State University, Detroit, and a lieutenant in the East Liverpool Police Department until four months ago.

He testified he found Freeman in the shop a minute after the radio dispatcher at City Hall reported a breaking and entering taking place at Raimond's.

The former lietenant said he noticed the glass in the front door was broken and, entering the shop, saw papers on the floor, a desk drawer standing open and the open cash register. He found Freeman in a washroom and handcuffed him.

Patrolman Howard Frontz, who took Freeman to City Hall, said $11.60 in change was removed from Freeman's pockets at the police station.

Raimond, asked how much was in the register, replied "I would just have to guess—$8, $10 or $11."

George A. Aronson of East Liverpool, defense counsel, called several witnesses, including Freeman' wife Mary. They have seven children, the oldest 13.

She testified her husband "blacks out" from time to time and she persuaded him early this summer to apply for admission to a veterans' hospital.

Ralph F. Winters and Richard F. Wilk, who operate downtown taverns, testified Freeman has fallen off bar stools, apparently after blacking out.

Father Visits Injured Youth

LISBON — James Todd of the Lisbon - Steubenville Rd., Lisbon R. D. 1, flew to Columbus, Ga., Monday night to see his son, David, critically injured early Monday in a fatal traffic accident.

The young ex-serviceman received a ruptured spleen, crushed ribs and a brain injury in a rear-end collision that killed his two companions.

Calling hours will be Wednesday afternoon and night at the Henry Funeral Home for John A. Finch, 19, of 204 S. Broadway, Salem, and Harold E. (Butch) Moore, 20, of 81 Morrison St., Lisbon.

The three youths were in Todd's compact car and apparently had pulled off a highway near Columbus to rest. Another vehicle hit their car from behind about 3:30 a. m.

Young Todd made his home with his brother and sister-in-law, Merlin and Barbara Todd on N. Market St., since completing military service last month.

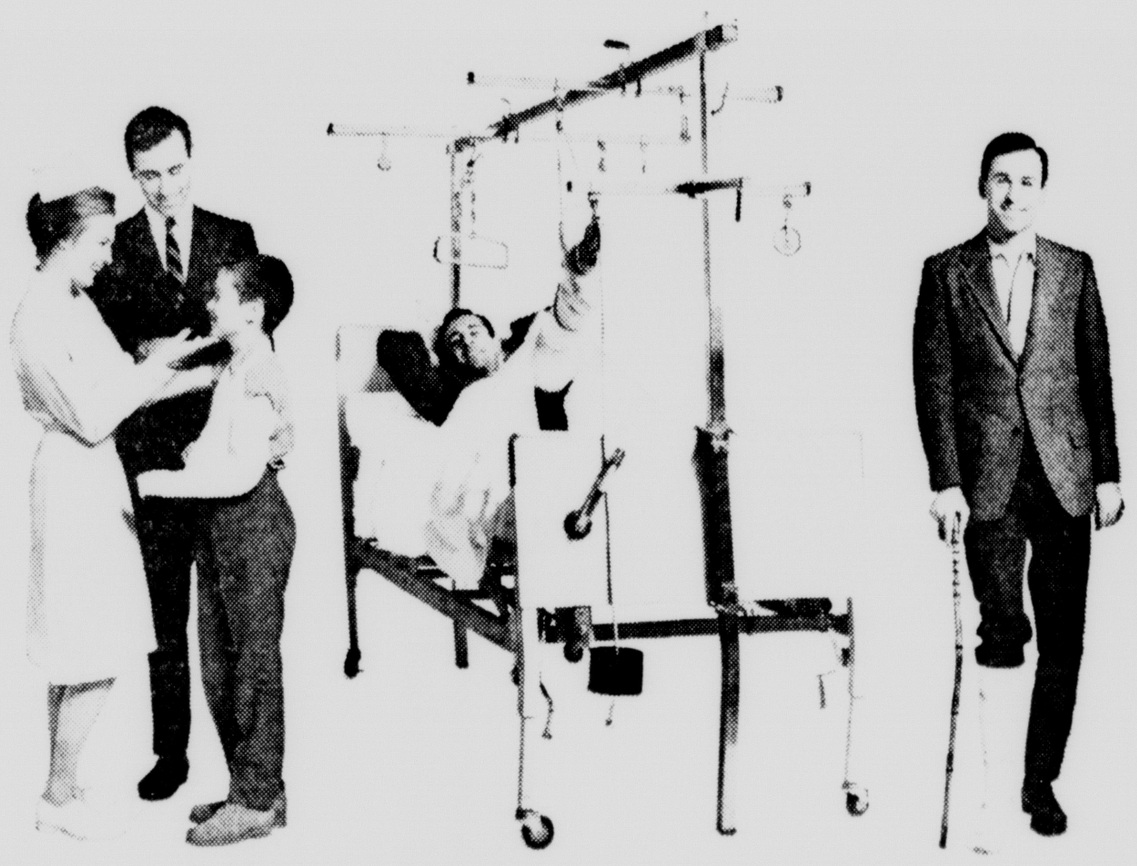

The Finch funeral will be at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, with the Rev. Paul Gerard of the First Presbyterian Church here officiating. Burial will be in Kimble's Cemetery near Elkton.

Rites for Moore will be at 3 p. m., with the Rev. Vernon Griffith of the Assembly of God Church in charge. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

He testified he found Freeman in the shop a minute after the radio dispatcher at City Hall reported a breaking and entering taking place at Raimond's.

The former lietenant said he noticed the glass in the front door was broken and, entering the shop, saw papers on the floor, a desk drawer standing open and the open cash register. He found Freeman in a washroom and handcuffed him.

Patrolman Howard Frontz, who took Freeman to City Hall, said $11.60 in change was removed from Freeman's pockets at the police station.

Raimond, asked how much was in the register, replied "I would just have to guess—$8, $10 or $11."

George A. Aronson of East Liverpool, defense counsel, called several witnesses, including Freeman' wife Mary. They have seven children, the oldest 13.

She testified her husband "blacks out" from time to time and she persuaded him early this summer to apply for admission to a veterans' hospital.

Ralph F. Winters and Richard F. Wilk, who operate downtown taverns, testified Freeman has fallen off bar stools, apparently after blacking out.

Father Visits Injured Youth

LISBON — James Todd of the Lisbon - Steubenville Rd., Lisbon R. D. 1, flew to Columbus, Ga., Monday night to see his son, David, critically injured early Monday in a fatal traffic accident.

The young ex-serviceman received a ruptured spleen, crushed ribs and a brain injury in a rear-end collision that killed his two companions.

Calling hours will be Wednesday afternoon and night at the Henry Funeral Home for John A. Finch, 19, of 204 S. Broadway, Salem, and Harold E. (Butch) Moore, 20, of 81 Morrison St., Lisbon.

The three youths were in Todd's compact car and apparently had pulled off a highway near Columbus to rest. Another vehicle hit their car from behind about 3:30 a. m.

Young Todd made his home with his brother and sister-in-law, Merlin and Barbara Todd on N. Market St., since completing military service last month.

The Finch funeral will be at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, with the Rev. Paul Gerard of the First Presbyterian Church here officiating. Burial will be in Kimble's Cemetery near Elkton.

Rites for Moore will be at 3 p. m., with the Rev. Vernon Griffith of the Assembly of God Church in charge. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

The Septuagint is the oldest Greek translation of the Old Testament, believed to have been begun in the 200s B.C., in Alexandria, Egypt. The translation was completed before the Christian era.

Inflation Vexes Canada Too

When the U. S. economy simmers, Canada's boils. That's what is happening now.

The Canadian economic boom is six years old, the same as that of the United States. In the dozen years prior to mid-1965, Canadian prices had increased by only 1.4 per cent a year. But in August 1966, the consumer price index was 3.9 per cent higher than it was 12 months earlier.

Between 1952 and 1965, the over-all rate of Canadian wage increase came to 4 per cent a year. Most wage settlements negotiated in 1966 provide for annual pay hikes of 7 or 8 per cent under two- and three-year contracts.

Early in September, Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp told Parliament he would introduce a "baby budget" aimed to halt the wage-price spiral. "Higher taxes are cold comfort to those affected by higher prices," Sharp said, "but they can help prevent prices from going higher."

Sharp also has made use of the price rollback and the wage guidline. Steel Co. of Canada, the country's biggest producer, rescinded price increases on plate, galvanized sheet, and certain bar mill products just six days after Sharp warned the Stelco chairman either to reconsider or face a parliamentary investigation.

The commanding role of the United States in Canadian economy has been a source of friction between the two countries. At present, some 60 per cent of Canada's industry is foreign-owned, mostly by Americans. Almost one-third of all U.S. private investment — valued at about $25 billion — is in Canada.

The United States is trying to stem the outflow of capital and increase exports. Canada, on the other hand, must attract capital and better its own export performance. What makes these policies clash is the fact that each country is the other's trading partner.

It Can't Be Avoided

American Education, published by the Office of Education, has published statistics that will bring no joy to educators in the South.

The statistics are from U. S. Defense Department experience with the armed forces mental test during an 18-month period.

The statistics show rejection rates for young men taking the test are highest for the South, lowest in the Midwest and the West.

Though more than 80 per cent of 18-year-old white youths taking the test passed, only 32.5 per cent of Negro youths passed it — and a significant cause of the disparity was the educational deficiency of Southern education for Negroes.

But in the same section of the country that has neglected education of Negroes there also is a deficiency of education for whites. It can't be avoided. In the process of holding down another race the dominant race, itself, must lose stature.

Those who have been charging that academic integration lowers educational standards are correct only in the limited sense that standards will decline when too many pupils with poor preparation are present.

When that happens, educational standards must suffer, whether it's in the South, or the East, the other region of poor performance on the armed forces mental test.

Intelligence is not an absolute condition. It is relative to environment. Intelligence test scores can be improved by improving the environment of pupils.

Southern educators who boast that their school systems don't suffer from segregation must acknowledge they must be suffering from something.

There's Always Next Year

It's World Series time 1966 — and how are you fixed?

Ohioans don't have a lot to whoop about considering the Indians finished fifth and the Reds seventh.

A little glimmer of pride can be gleaned from the fact that the Dodgers manager Walter Alston who has guided the "Bums" to their sixth National League flag since 1954, is an Ohioan.

Most of our sympathy, has to go to Cincinnati fans, where the Reds were routed by rivals after Robinson was traded.

Cincy fans weren't too happy over the swap that sent the longtime favorite to Baltimore, but when Frank captured the triple crown and led the Birds to the pennant, it was almost too much.

The Indians were unable to hold on to the top rung in the American loop, but most fans shrugged off the skid as a part of baseball.

After all, there's always next year and the next and the next.

American League fans should be grateful that Sandy Koufax pitches in the National League.

National League fans should be grateful Koufax delayed showing up at spring training until just 12 days before the season started. What would have happened had he been there on time?

We wonder if the Koufax-Don Drysdale holdout show of 1966 might be revamped for 1967 starring Sandy K. and Wally A., a truly dynamic duo.

October Already?

By Truman Twill

In the unlikely event it really is October, a few things must be considered, to wit:

Whatever do-it-yourself house painting is going to be done had better be done quickly.

Gladioli bulbs must be taken out of the ground, divided and stored in a cool, dry place.

Damage done to the spouting when the overloaded branch broke off the apple tree must be repaired before it is compounded by ice and snow.

It would be a first - rate idea to bring the power mower in from the dirt - collecting garage to the even - heated basement and drain the gasoline out of the carburetor.

There is only a slim possibility that anyone in his right mind is going to plunk himself into a chilly metal chair on a terrace from now on, therefore metal chairs should be removed to a safe place until warm weather.

Whatever caused stains on that eight-year-old raincoat probably can be removed by a cleaner and this artisan should be given a chance to see what he can do.

More convenient places could be found for summer clothing than squeezed in among the winter clothing it now is time to get out for another long ordeal by sleet, snow, high winds and climatological misdemeanors.

All the good books that haven't been read lately are piled up waiting to be enjoyed during ever-lengthening nights. Pick one and begin.

This might be the year when the Christmas cards are going to be addressed early and sent out in good time, to avoid the last-minute rush. Think about it.

The putty that has fallen out of the storm windows needs to be replaced before the windows are installed again.

It is time to replenish the work glove supply, which had reached a low level at the end of last winter. For every task of more than an hour's duration, a change of gloves every 45 minutes is advisable.

The snow thrower, which performed outstanding service last winter, deserves a thorough greasing.

It is none too soon to make sure all weak batteries have been replaced with hairy, two-fisted new comers capable of doing everything required of them and doing it time and time and time again, ad infinitum, nauseam et cetera.

A Bit Of Confusion

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Fog moving in, things getting mixed up, and elections five weeks away.

Last spring President Johnson talked of touring the country at every chance to seek its support. He made a few trips and speeches for Democratic candidates before Labor Day, and none since.

Then in September he said he would go this month — as the campaign heats up — to Manila for a conference with six friendly Asian and Pacific leaders, starting about Oct. 28. They would discuss the war in Viet Nam.

But fellow Democrat and constant critic Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas belittled the prospect of much result from "such a cozy little group." He called the trip politically motivated.

This might have seemed right up the Republicans' alley, but they quickly endorsed the trip and canceled out the chance hereafter of accusing Johnson of making the trip to avoid testing his popularity with the voters.

FOR ONE, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, leader of the House Republicans, brushed off presidential efforts in campaigns. "Words from a President won't help anybody," he said.

And within the Democratic party, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey goofed a couple of times, once with Johnson, once with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who has been more popular in the public opinion polls than Johnson or Humphrey.

Humphrey said, "President Johnson is a little more mature, responsible, and more in the public interest" than Kennedy. He tried to make up for this later by saying he meant Kennedy has "a good deal more freedom of action."

He goofed with Johnson by indicating publicly the President wanted him as his runningmate again in the 1968 elections. But later Johnson wouldn't say yes or no when newsmen asked about it.

The Democrats, not one, big happy family, have other troubles.

In Maryland, a two-term liberal member of Congress, Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, withheld his support from George P. Mahoney when the latter beat him for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Mahoney's main talking point was his opposition to open housing.

IN GEORGIA, Rep. Charles L. Weltner, not in the governorship race at all, dropped out of the race for a third term in Congress after Lester G. Maddox won the party's gubernatorial nomination. He refused to support Maddox, an all-out segregationist, in the election race against a Republican. He can't stand what Maddox stands for.

Former Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon has listed war and inflation as this election's two big issues. He's behind Johnson on the war but not the way he is handling it, he says.

But Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., says, "We are not going to make the war a political issue." And Ford said "whether it becomes an issue depends on the mood of the American people."

Republicans, critical of Johnson's handling of the war, want him to step it up.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said, "I would do anything that would bring the war to an honorable conclusion as rapidly as I could." Would he use nuclear weapons? He said, "I would not automatically preclude anything."

'Be Patient, Your Turn Will Come!'

Senators Demand Strike Laws

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Even the most powerful labor leaders in the land—including Walter Reuther—are trying to "cool it."

With a score of industries in crisis, virtually every major union now faces the same problem. The rank and file is strike-happy. The memberships want instant pay escalation or instant stoppages.

Victor Riesel

With even small strikes costing union treasuries an instant million dollars, the national leaders are worried. They don't know what they can sell their following. They don't know whether they can actually talk for the dues-payers. They are worried about wildcats, rebellions, splits and law suits.

Now, with major crises burgeoning in the electrical, electronic, communications, jet engine production, transportation and food distribution, they are worried by an angry mood in Congress.

Even their staunch friends such as Senators Javits, Morse, Buchel and Burdick are telling the labor chiefs to "cool it" or else.

The senators have heard from their constituents and so the labor leaders have heard from the senators. Morse and Javits are leading a block of 16 of their colleagues in an effort to force new emergency strike laws through the Congress.

THEY ARE SPECIFIC about it as a bank loan contract.

They want Secretary of Labor Wirtz to get busy and write a series of proposals. They want the bills in the hopper by Jan. 15, 1867.

They mean business. Among the 16 are solons who rarely talk back to the men they consider progressive labor leaders. Last week, with several hundred thousand men and women poised to hit the bricks, the senators sent word to Willard Wirtz they mean business this time.

They introduced a resolution which says bluntly:

"The secretary of labor is hereby directed to commence immediately a complete study of the operations and adequacy of the emergency labor disputs provisions of the Railway Labor Act (which also affects airlines—VR) and the Labor-Management Relations Act covering all other industries—VR), and to report to the Congress by Jan. 15, 1967, the findings of such study together with appropriate recommendations . . . as will provide improved permanent procedures for the settlement of emergency labor disputes."

THESE BLUNT WORDS come from Democrats as well as Republicans. Now they're on the record. They expect a stampede.

The militants already are beginning to break from the corral. Wildcats have defied the teamsters' leadership, as well as the officials of the shipbuilding and auto unions.

For a while the other week Reuther could do little about getting an unauthorized walkout under control at a Milwaukee auto plant. He expects for more. This is obvious from a section and file.

"UAW members have every right to demonstrate and protest inequities that the corporations refuse to recognize. However, UAW members and local union leaders must avoid becoming involved in any unlawful, unauthorized activity for such illegal activity will lay the union and its members open to serious damaging law suits and other legal and contractual complications which can serve only to weaken our forces and jeopardize our over-all collective bargaining strength while not accomplishing our ultimate purpose.

"Illegal and unauthorized actions cannot be condoned."

If Reuther is having difficulty keeping his people at the wire, it's easy to imagine what is happening in other unions.

There is the new "combo," the 11-union team now bargaining with General Electric. In the past, leaders of the biggest union involved, the International Union of Electrical Workers, (IUE), would go for the jugular.

THE IUE'S OUSTED LEADER, Jim Carey, would scream and race up and down the conference room. He once threatened to tear an opponent's hand out of its socket and brain him with it, or hurl him from a window. Chauncerian language flowed from Carey like bilge from a long overdue freighter.

Now it's different. AFL-CIO President George Meany, sounding rough sits sedately in on the strategy. Now they duel with statistics instead of verbal stilettos.

Few in labor's high command have wanted to take on GE for many reasons—not the least of which is Congress' mounting blood pressure. This started to rise when the airlines went down.

The rocketing blood pressure certainly was not eased when it was learned that government experts had not spent much time preparing new strike laws since the project was first announced by the President last January.

So the labor leaders are cooling it. They're an older generation dealing with younger people who barely know the names of the giants without a score card. No telling where the revolt could lead.

Elephant Hunt

The next Nimbus weather satellite may draw a bead on wildlife as well as storms.

For a start, scientists hope Nimbus will collect useful data from a herd of African elephants. Eventually, if the experiment is successful, the satellite may zero in on sea turtles, polar bears, whales and other animals whose day-to-day movements are difficult to trace.

By monitoring wildlife, ecologists hope to learn more about the mysteries of migration and gather data to protect species threatened with extinction, the National Geographic Society says.

A device called the Interrogation Recording and Location System (IRLS) will keep track of the elephants.

The IRLS will relay and receive data while passing over Africa. Information will be stored and transmitted to a ground station.

Grin And Bear It

"Is best to stay on the fairway, General! A hook or slice into the rough will put you in enemy territory!"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The article entitled "Tobin Rips Setup At Boys' School" which appeared in your newspaper Sept. 23 has been brought to my attention.

Inasmuch as Fairfield School for Boys, Lancaster, Ohio, is within the supervisory jurisdiction of the Ohio Youth Commission, I believe it only fair and essential to furnish you the following information for the benefit of your readers.

In the fall of 1964 a crash program was inaugurated at the school in which $3,174,921 has been spent in improving and expanding facilities. Included in the improvements are a new recreation building, a new academic wing and a new vocational education wing. The recreation building has been in use for over one year and the academic and vocational wing will be dedicated by Gov. James A. Rhodes on Oct. 10.

At the present time we have three types of training: Academic, vocational and on-the-job.

EIGHTY - FIVE per cent of the student body at Fairfield School is entered in the certified academic vocational training program. The remaining 15 per cent of the institutional enrollment is in a half - day school and half-day on-the-job training program; thus, all of the boys are involved for the full day in one of these three areas.

The remainder of the day and the weekend is spent in other additional recreational and social pursuits. To take care of the physical needs of the boys, a physician visits the school daily and is on call, in addition to having a registered nurse around the clock in our hospital. Two dentists serve the dental needs of these boys. Our teaching staff alone at this school is composed of 88 educational administrators and teachers. It is also of interest to point out there are 14 psychologists and social workers at this school for counseling services.

Your article states ". . . . two out of three Fairfield School boys have to be sent back or become adult criminals." Fairfield School for Boys and Scioto Village for Girls have an almost identical return rate of between 30 to 35 per cent of those children who have been released from one of our facilities. This return rate favorably compares with other states. This is in comparison with the state of California, widely known as one of the most progressive States for juveniles, which has a return rate of 48 per cent. It must be remembered that the Ohio Youth Commission usually receives commitments of children after all community resources and alternatives to help the child have failed. Accordingly, the rate of rehabilitative success (if measured by return rate) cannot be expected to be as favorable as with the first offender or the more mildly delinquent child in private institutions.

THE OHIO Youth Commission has nine institutions and camps, compared with six three years ago, and currently has three additional institutions on which construction will start very shortly. These new institutions and the expansion of one of our camps will cost the state of Ohio in excess of six million dollars.

The operating budget for the commission in this biennium is in excess of $19 million, plus an additional $8 million for capital improvements. These amounts far exceed any appropriation previously given the commission.

The rated capacity for Fairfield School for Boys is 650 and not 300 as stated in your newspaper.

Your article also mentions the Rogers Honor Farm in Columbiana County. It did not mention that the Ohio Youth Commission, through the State Delinquency Facility Subsidy, is contributing in excess of $35,000 as a matching share of the construction costs of this farm. The state is happy to be able to assist in the construction and subsequent financially assist in the operation of this farm.

I hope this clarifies that there has been progress in the past few years at the Fairfield School for Boys and also with the overall picture with the rehabilitation of delinquent youth. I felt that it was only right that the people in Ohio be apprised of these facts.

DANIEL W. JOHNSON
Chairman
Ohio Youth Commission

WASHINGTON

Fog moving in, things getting mixed up, and elections five weeks away.

Last spring President Johnson talked of touring the country at every chance to seek its support. He made a few trips and speeches for Democratic candidates before Labor Day, and none since.

Then in September he said he would go this month — as the campaign heats up — to Manila for a conference with six friendly Asian and Pacific leaders, starting about Oct. 28. They would discuss the war in Viet Nam.

But fellow Democrat and constant critic Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas belittled the prospect of much result from "such a cozy little group." He called the trip politically motivated.

This might have seemed right up the Republicans' alley, but they quickly endorsed the trip and canceled out the chance hereafter of accusing Johnson of making the trip to avoid testing his popularity with the voters.

FOR ONE, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, leader of the House Republicans, brushed off presidential efforts in campaigns. "Words from a President won't help anybody," he said.

And within the Democratic party, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey goofed a couple of times, once with Johnson, once with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who has been more popular in the public opinion polls than Johnson or Humphrey.

Humphrey said, "President Johnson is a little more mature, responsible, and more in the public interest" than Kennedy. He tried to make up for this later by saying he meant Kennedy has "a good deal more freedom of action."

He goofed with Johnson by indicating publicly the President wanted him as his runningmate again in the 1968 elections. But later Johnson wouldn't say yes or no when newsmen asked about it.

The Democrats, not one, big happy family, have other troubles.

In Maryland, a two-term liberal member of Congress, Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, withheld his support from George P. Mahoney when the latter beat him for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Mahoney's main talking point was his opposition to open housing.

IN GEORGIA, Rep. Charles L. Weltner, not in the governorship race at all, dropped out of the race for a third term in Congress after Lester G. Maddox won the party's gubernatorial nomination. He refused to support Maddox, an all-out segregationist, in the election race against a Republican. He can't stand what Maddox stands for.

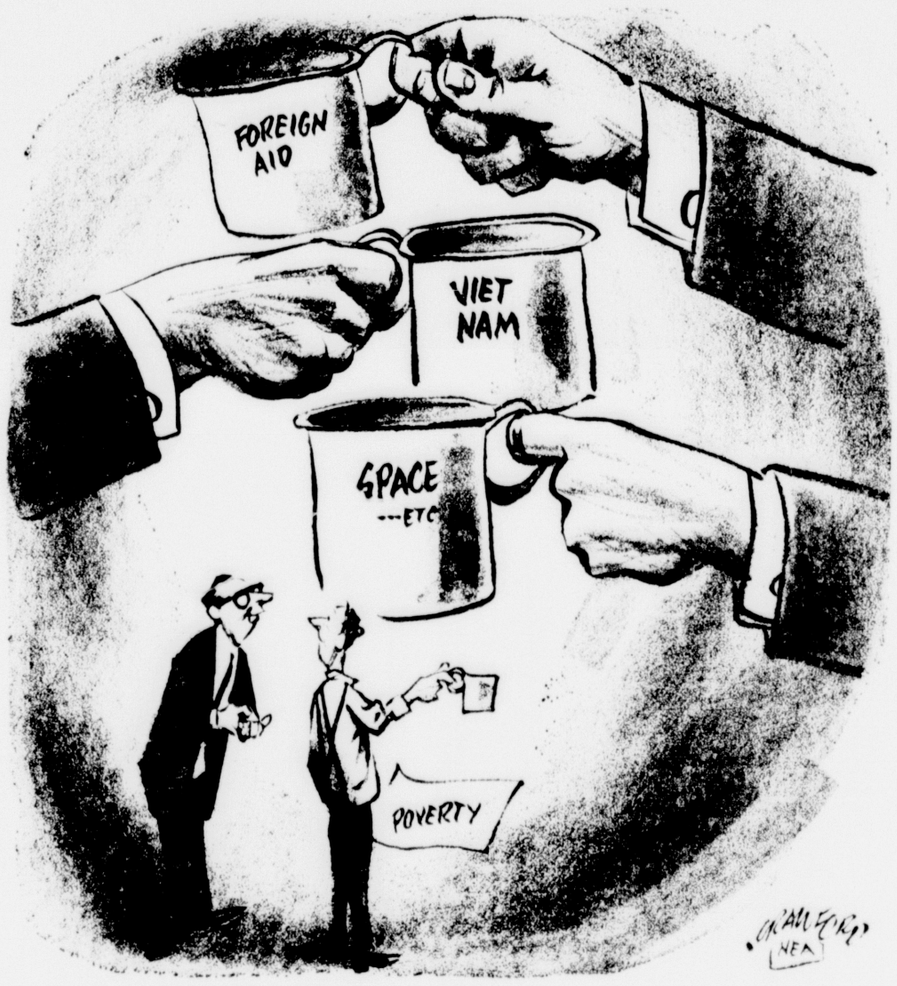

Former Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon has listed war and inflation as this election's two big issues. He's behind Johnson on the war but not the way he is handling it, he says.

But Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., says, "We are not going to make the war a political issue." And Ford said "whether it becomes an issue depends on the mood of the American people."

Republicans, critical of Johnson's handling of the war, want him to step it up.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said, "I would do anything that would bring the war to an honorable conclusion as rapidly as I could." Would he use nuclear weapons? He said, "I would not automatically preclude anything."

'Be Patient, Your Turn Will Come!'

Senators Demand Strike Laws

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Even the most powerful labor leaders in the land—including Walter Reuther—are trying to "cool it."

With a score of industries in crisis, virtually every major union now faces the same problem. The rank and file is strike-happy. The memberships want instant pay escalation or instant stoppages.

Victor Riesel

With even small strikes costing union treasuries an instant million dollars, the national leaders are worried. They don't know what they can sell their following. They don't know whether they can actually talk for the dues-payers. They are worried about wildcats, rebellions, splits and law suits.

Now, with major crises burgeoning in the electrical, electronic, communications, jet engine production, transportation and food distribution, they are worried by an angry mood in Congress.

Even their staunch friends such as Senators Javits, Morse, Buchel and Burdick are telling the labor chiefs to "cool it" or else.

The senators have heard from their constituents and so the labor leaders have heard from the senators. Morse and Javits are leading a block of 16 of their colleagues in an effort to force new emergency strike laws through the Congress.

THEY ARE SPECIFIC about it as a bank loan contract.

They want Secretary of Labor Wirtz to get busy and write a series of proposals. They want the bills in the hopper by Jan. 15, 1867.

They mean business. Among the 16 are solons who rarely talk back to the men they consider progressive labor leaders. Last week, with several hundred thousand men and women poised to hit the bricks, the senators sent word to Willard Wirtz they mean business this time.

They introduced a resolution which says bluntly:

"The secretary of labor is hereby directed to commence immediately a complete study of the operations and adequacy of the emergency labor disputs provisions of the Railway Labor Act (which also affects airlines—VR) and the Labor-Management Relations Act covering all other industries—VR), and to report to the Congress by Jan. 15, 1967, the findings of such study together with appropriate recommendations . . . as will provide improved permanent procedures for the settlement of emergency labor disputes."

THESE BLUNT WORDS come from Democrats as well as Republicans. Now they're on the record. They expect a stampede.

The militants already are beginning to break from the corral. Wildcats have defied the teamsters' leadership, as well as the officials of the shipbuilding and auto unions.

For a while the other week Reuther could do little about getting an unauthorized walkout under control at a Milwaukee auto plant. He expects for more. This is obvious from a section and file.

"UAW members have every right to demonstrate and protest inequities that the corporations refuse to recognize. However, UAW members and local union leaders must avoid becoming involved in any unlawful, unauthorized activity for such illegal activity will lay the union and its members open to serious damaging law suits and other legal and contractual complications which can serve only to weaken our forces and jeopardize our over-all collective bargaining strength while not accomplishing our ultimate purpose.

"Illegal and unauthorized actions cannot be condoned."

If Reuther is having difficulty keeping his people at the wire, it's easy to imagine what is happening in other unions.

There is the new "combo," the 11-union team now bargaining with General Electric. In the past, leaders of the biggest union involved, the International Union of Electrical Workers, (IUE), would go for the jugular.

THE IUE'S OUSTED LEADER, Jim Carey, would scream and race up and down the conference room. He once threatened to tear an opponent's hand out of its socket and brain him with it, or hurl him from a window. Chauncerian language flowed from Carey like bilge from a long overdue freighter.

Now it's different. AFL-CIO President George Meany, sounding rough sits sedately in on the strategy. Now they duel with statistics instead of verbal stilettos.

Few in labor's high command have wanted to take on GE for many reasons—not the least of which is Congress' mounting blood pressure. This started to rise when the airlines went down.

The rocketing blood pressure certainly was not eased when it was learned that government experts had not spent much time preparing new strike laws since the project was first announced by the President last January.

So the labor leaders are cooling it. They're an older generation dealing with younger people who barely know the names of the giants without a score card. No telling where the revolt could lead.

Elephant Hunt

The next Nimbus weather satellite may draw a bead on wildlife as well as storms.

For a start, scientists hope Nimbus will collect useful data from a herd of African elephants. Eventually, if the experiment is successful, the satellite may zero in on sea turtles, polar bears, whales and other animals whose day-to-day movements are difficult to trace.

By monitoring wildlife, ecologists hope to learn more about the mysteries of migration and gather data to protect species threatened with extinction, the National Geographic Society says.

A device called the Interrogation Recording and Location System (IRLS) will keep track of the elephants.

The IRLS will relay and receive data while passing over Africa. Information will be stored and transmitted to a ground station.

Grin And Bear It

"Is best to stay on the fairway, General! A hook or slice into the rough will put you in enemy territory."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The article entitled "Tobin Rips Setup At Boys' School" which appeared in your newspaper Sept. 23 has been brought to my attention.

Inasmuch as Fairfield School for Boys, Lancaster, Ohio, is within the supervisory jurisdiction of the Ohio Youth Commission, I believe it only fair and essential to furnish you the following information for the benefit of your readers.

In the fall of 1964 a crash program was inaugurated at the school in which $3,174,921 has been spent in improving and expanding facilities. Included in the improvements are a new recreation building, a new academic wing and a new vocational education wing. The recreation building has been in use for over one year and the academic and vocational wing will be dedicated by Gov. James A. Rhodes on Oct. 10.

At the present time we have three types of training: Academic, vocational and on-the-job.

EIGHTY - FIVE per cent of the student body at Fairfield School is entered in the certified academic vocational training program. The remaining 15 per cent of the institutional enrollment is in a half - day school and half-day on-the-job training program; thus, all of the boys are involved for the full day in one of these three areas.

The remainder of the day and the weekend is spent in other additional recreational and social pursuits. To take care of the physical needs of the boys, a physician visits the school daily and is on call, in addition to having a registered nurse around the clock in our hospital. Two dentists serve the dental needs of these boys. Our teaching staff alone at this school is composed of 88 educational administrators and teachers. It is also of interest to point out there are 14 psychologists and social workers at this school for counseling services.

Your article states ". . . . two out of three Fairfield School boys have to be sent back or become adult criminals." Fairfield School for Boys and Scioto Village for Girls have an almost identical return rate of between 30 to 35 per cent of those children who have been released from one of our facilities. This return rate favorably compares with other states. This is in comparison with the state of California, widely known as one of the most progressive States for juveniles, which has a return rate of 48 per cent. It must be remembered that the Ohio Youth Commission usually receives commitments of children after all community resources and alternatives to help the child have failed. Accordingly, the rate of rehabilitative success (if measured by return rate) cannot be expected to be as favorable as with the first offender or the more mildly delinquent child in private institutions.

THE OHIO Youth Commission has nine institutions and camps, compared with six three years ago, and currently has three additional institutions on which construction will start very shortly. These new institutions and the expansion of one of our camps will cost the state of Ohio in excess of six million dollars.

The operating budget for the commission in this biennium is in excess of $19 million, plus an additional $8 million for capital improvements. These amounts far exceed any appropriation previously given the commission.

The rated capacity for Fairfield School for Boys is 650 and not 300 as stated in your newspaper.

Your article also mentions the Rogers Honor Farm in Columbiana County. It did not mention that the Ohio Youth Commission, through the State Delinquency Facility Subsidy, is contributing in excess of $35,000 as a matching share of the construction costs of this farm. The state is happy to be able to assist in the construction and subsequent financially assist in the operation of this farm.

I hope this clarifies that there has been progress in the past few years at the Fairfield School for Boys and also with the overall picture with the rehabilitation of delinquent youth. I felt that it was only right that the people in Ohio be apprised of these facts.

DANIEL W. JOHNSON
Chairman
Ohio Youth Commission

Percy Slated To Resume Election Bid

CHICAGO (AP) — The campaign of Republican Charles H. Percy for the U.S. Senate is expected to resume this week.

It was halted Sept. 18 with the slaying of his daughter, Valerie, 21, in the Percy home in the Chicago suburb of Kenilworth.

Most 30 community headquarters in the state are to be reopened Wednesday.

A Percy aide said Monday that Percy and his family are expected to return to Chicago in midweek from seclusion in California. Percy was reported in telephone communication with his campaign manager.

Meanwhile, Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., Percy's opponent, has been marking time in his campaign, pending resumption of activities by Percy. He is seeking his fourth term.

The race for Douglas' Senate seat gained another contestant Monday when Mayor Robert Sabonjian of Waukegan announced he would seek write-in support as an independent Democrat.

Sabonjian, who was in the news during rioting in Waukegan's Negro neighborhood in August, said he decided to be a candidate because of encouraging reaction to an amateur group's effort to promote him as a third choice.

Hearing Slated Friday On GOP's Platform

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Anyone with anything to suggest regarding a Republican platform for next month's election is being invited to a public hearing on the matter at 10 a.m. EST Friday.

GOP State Chairman John S. Andrews said the party's state convention platform committee will conduct the hearing in the Neil House. The next day, the 24-member committee submits its report to the Ohio Republican Convention at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rubin Zufelt, a steelworker, fell four stories Friday while welding steel beams at the new Tucson City Hall.

"Suddenly everything dropped out from under me," he said. "I could see all the stuff whizzing by."

Zufelt, 32, landed on a layer of corrugated roofing on the third floor.

Monday he was back at work on the seventh floor. "I'm a little stiff," he said, "but this is the way I make my living."

Tribal War Kills 1,000 In Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—About 1,000 persons are believed dead following five days of tribal warfare in northern Nigeria, but the nation's military government claims the situation is under control.

The fighting between the northern Hausa tribe and Ibo immigrants from the eastern region erupted Wednesday and intensified over the weekend when northern soldiers and civilians massacred about 300 Ibos in the city of Kaino, 520 miles north of Lagos.

Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, head of the military government, expressed grief over the violence but told a constitutional conference at Lagos that the situation was under control.

The conference was adjourned until Oct. 24.

Reports from the north said Kano was quite Monday, with the city under a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Lt. Col. Hassan Usman Katsina, military governor of the north, reportedly has ordered army troops patrolling the city to shoot anyone caught molesting others or looting.

The northern Hausa tribesmen fear that the eastern Ibos are trying to dominate Nigeria politically and militarily.

Many Ibos, generally better educated than the northerners, migrated to the north, where their training enabled them to dominate the skilled jobs.

Northern Nigeria has a population of about 29 million. Estimates of the Ibos there range from 300,000 to one million. Since tribal violence broke out several months ago, about 60,000 have fled back to their homeland.

It was halted Sept. 18 with the slaying of his daughter, Valerie, 21, in the Percy home in the Chicago suburb of Kenilworth.

About 20 community headquarters in the state are to be reopened Wednesday.

A Percy aide said Monday that Percy and his family are expected to return to Chicago in midweek from seclusion in California. Percy was reported in telephone communication with his campaign manager.

Meanwhile, Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., Percy's opponent, has been marking time in his campaign, pending resumption of activities by Percy. He is seeking his fourth term.

The race for Douglas' Senate seat gained another contestant Monday when Mayor Robert Sabonjian of Waukegan announced he would seek write-in support as an independent Democrat.

Sabonjian, who was in the news during rioting in Waukegan's Negro neighborhood in August, said he decided to be a candidate because of encouraging reaction to an amateur group's effort to promote him as a third choice.

Monday he was back at work on the seventh floor. "I'm a little stiff," he said, "but this is the way I make my living."

Tribal War Kills 1,000 In Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—About 1,000 persons are believed dead following five days of tribal warfare in northern Nigeria, but the nation's military government claims the situation is under control.

The fighting between the northern Hausa tribe and Ibo immigrants from the eastern region erupted Wednesday and intensified over the weekend when northern soldiers and civilians massacred about 300 Ibos in the city of Kaino, 520 miles north of Lagos.

Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, head of the military government, expressed grief over the violence but told a constitutional conference at Lagos that the situation was under control.

The conference was adjourned until Oct. 24.

Reports from the north said Kano was quite Monday, with the city under a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Lt. Col. Hassan Usman Katsina, military governor of the north, reportedly has ordered army troops patrolling the city to shoot anyone caught molesting others or looting.

The northern Hausa tribes men fear that the eastern Ibos are trying to dominate Nigeria politically and militarily.

Many Ibos, generally better educated than the northerners, migrated to the north, where their training enabled them to dominate the skilled jobs.

Northern Nigeria has a population of about 29 million. Estimates of the Ibos there range from 200,000 to one million. Since tribal violence broke out several months ago, about 60,000 have fled back to their homeland.

Man Killed By Police In Brief Gun Battle

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two policemen shot and killed a man in a brief gun battle following a shooting early today at the Malibu Lounge Bar.

The dead man was identified by the coroner's office and police as Sante (Sandy) Speranza of Garfield Heights.

Robbery Squad Detective Harry Leisman said Speranza shot Joseph Vanek, 29, during an argument in the Malibu.

Leisman and his partner were in the bar at the time of the shooting, and he said he went doggie, told the Senate Monday to Vanek's aid while the other detective followed Speranza out the back door to the parking lot.

Leisman, who reached the parking lot a short time later, said he fired six shots after seeing Speranza fire a shot at his partner from behind a parked car.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I painted the inside of two upper cupboard doors in the kitchen with blackboard paint. Actually, it is green paint the kind you write on with chalk and erase easily.

I now have two little blackboards. I write my grocery list on one and the other I use to list odd jobs to be done around the house.

I keep white chalk and a small felt eraser on the shelf just inside the cupboard.

When the cupboard doors are closed the lists are out of sight, but the whole family knows where to look for the grocery list or to see what chores need to be done.

It sure is convenient for me and I always know where my lists are.

JEANNE JOHNSON

Jeanne, this is a jim-dandy hint.

I know that the blackboard paint you refer to is used normally on playwood or pressed board. It may not adhere to painted metal surfaces if your cupboards happen to be metal.

So I called six paint stores and the National Paint Association, and was advised to rough up a painted or metal surface before applying blackboard paint so it would stick better.

Another idea is to put this blackboard paint on the inside, lower half of a garage door. This makes an excellent blackboard for the children to write and draw on.

HELOISE.

-:-

Dear Heloise: When wooden clamp hangers fail to hold trousers, I glue pieces of felt on the inside of the hanger.

This will hold the pants securely—especially the new, slim type without cuffs.

MRS. R. CRAIG

Dear Heloise: We use empty margarine tubs to hold chalk, crayons, paper clips, etc., and make unbreakable banks for children by cutting a slit across the top.

They also can be used to hold soap-filled pads.

YOUNG READER

Dear Heloise: My son is recovering from chickenpox.

I have discovered a handy way of applying calamine lotion without touching the already irritated skin.

Clean out a plunger-type spray bottle and fill with lotion. Hold bottle under hot, running water to take the chill off the lotion, and spray the affected areas.

This is more comfortable for the child, is easier, neater and covers the skin more evenly. It also dries more quickly, bringing more prompt relief.

This method can also be used for poison ivy, hives, or any kind of skin ailment that causes itching.

MRS. DOUGLAS FERRELL

Dear Heloise: I have some plastic refrigerator bowls, and always am searching for the right top to go with a certain bowl.

The idea hit me to use a felt marker and mark the lid with a color to correspond with the color of the bowl. If both parts are white, you can put the same color on lid and bowl.

This has ended trying to put a too-small or too-large lid on my bowls.

MRS. LARRY ILER

Dear Heloise: When appliqueing small pieces of cloth to larger ones, such as lunch clothes, etc. . . .

Wring the appliques out in a small amount of starch, iron them on the larger cloth and they will remain until they can be stitched on.

BIANNE

-:-

Dear Heloise: After my husband passed away, I gave the boys their choice of his cufflinks.

I took the other links to the jeweler, and he took the backs off and made them into earrings for me.

I took the tiny lapel pins of the different organizations to which he belonged, and had them mounted on silver discs and put on my charm bracelet.

Now I can have them with me constantly, and not hidden in a dresser drawer.

Pontiff Leads Special Prayers For Viet Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI led the world's Roman Catholics today in special prayers for peace in Viet Nam.

The Pontiff scheduled an outdoor mass and a speech in St. Peter's Square late this afternoon. He was expected to urge again that every effort be made to end the fighting in Southeast Asia.

The Pope in an encyclical letter Sept. 19 asked the leaders of governments involved in Viet Nam to halt the combat in the name of God. Later he said his appeal was not just a formal gesture, that current world conditions aroused widespread fear and he is convinced "prayer is not in vain."

The encyclical designated the month of October for peace prayers and urged that special religious services be held Oct. 4, the first anniversary of Pope Paul's speech in the U.N. General Assembly urging peace.

Acute Alcoholism Ruled In Man's Death

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The death of James Montgomey, 41, whose body was found in a Hamilton street Sept. 26 was caused by acute alcoholism, Coroner Garret J. Boone ruled Monday.

Candidates Warned On Posting Placards

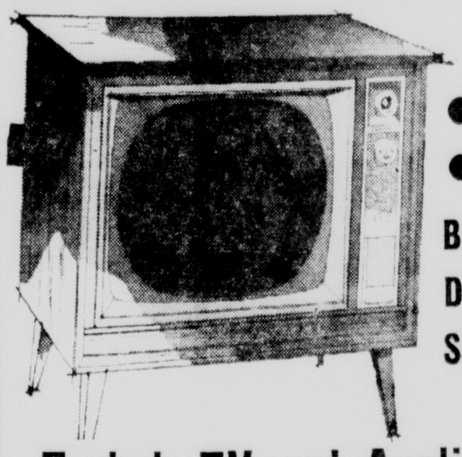

Political candidates must be careful not to post placards or other election campaign material on utility poles in East Liverpool, as such an action is a misdemeanor forbidden by city ordinance, Police Chief A. J. Radeschi warned today.

The chief said he issued the warning because many political aspirants soon will begin campaigning in earnest for the Nov. 8 general election.

The ordinance is designed to protect utility company linemen whose metal climbing spikes might be deflected by the metal head of a tack or the card itself, causing them to fall, the chief pointed out.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What is your opinion of a poor man marrying for money.

I'm a pensioner and make barely enough on the side as a free-lance writer to live decently. The woman I have been going with is not wealthy but we could both live very comfortably on what she has.

Several months back I sold an article and was able to take her to dinner several times. When my money ran low she knew it and asked about going Dutch. I agreed.

The next evening we went to a movie. While I was getting my wallet out she slid her arm under mine and thrust $10 at the cashier. I was greatly embarrassed.

My mother inherited some money and she never let Dad forget that many of the nice things we had were bought with her money. She let us kids know it, too.

I always said I'd starve to death before I'd marry a woman who had more money than I did but now that I'm faced with the possibility I'm not so sure.

We are not kids any more and marriage would give us companionship in our twilight years. Would this make me a gigolo?

— THE BIG Q

Dear Q: Do you want a girl just like the girl who married dear old Dad? If you do, here's your chance. And lotsa luck. You'll need it.

Birthday Party

Dear Ann: We have two children. I'm writing about our 6-year - old girl. I will use a made up name — Flora.

Several weeks ago Flora had a birthday party. I invited 16 children. They all seemed to have a good time.

Since then two of those children have had birthday parties but they did not invite Flora.

I'm not blaming the children. They are too young to know better, but their mothers should be ashamed of themselves for hurting a young child's feelings that way.

Should I continue to be pleasant to the mothers or would it be more honest to come right out and ask them why they left out my little girl — HURT.

Dear Hurt: If you want to help your little girl, you'd better find out by observing her at play and checking with her teacher to determine why she is not liked by some of the children. You are pointing your finger at the mothers but I suspect it was the youngsters who did not want to invite Flora.

An Old Math

Dear Ann: My husband cannot understand why we can't save money, even though we cut corners wherever we can and stay at home with the children instead of going out.

Will you please print the following information:

Two cases of beer plus a couple of stops at the tavern amounts to $10 a week.

Fifty-two times $10 equals $520 a year.

Ten years of marriage times $520 equals $5,200.

A lot of nice houses can be had with a down payment of $5,200. Get it? — BROKE AND STILL RENTING.

Dear Broke: Yes. I get it. But unfortunately, the people who need to get it are lousy at this kind of arithmetic. That's why they're broke.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Toledo Residents Get Warning On Cut In Services

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo's 325,000 residents are being forewarned they may face a cut in municipal services if they don't come up with the money to cover newly approved pay raises for city personnel.

City council enacted Monday the pay increase plan that finally ends a 2½-month dispute in which policemen and firemen demonstrated frequently.

A .5 per cent city income tax, raising by half the 1 per cent existing levy on payrolls, goes on the Nov. 8 ballot, with some of the proceeds expected to cover the raises newly authorized for all city employes.

If the levy fails, Mayor John Potter said, where the money would come from is problematical but the public could look for reduction in some services next year.

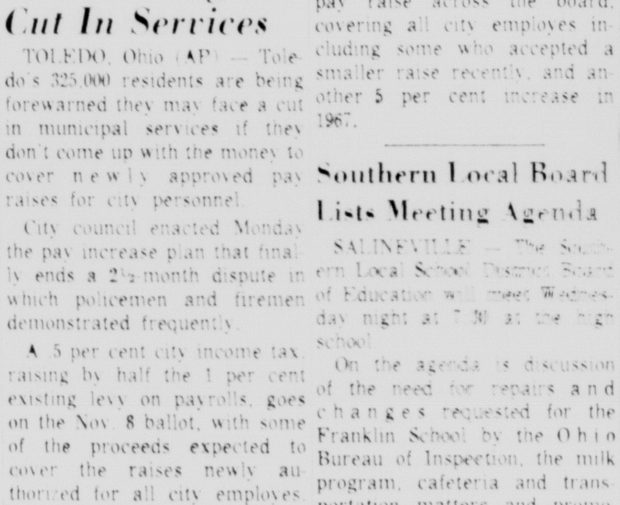

Primary terms of the settlement that satisfied the members of the police and fire departments provide a $325 annual pay raise across the board, covering all city employes including some who accepted a smaller raise recently, and another 5 per cent increase in 1967.

SALINEVILLE — The Southern Local School District Board of Education will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 at the high school.

Germany surrendered on May 6, 1945, in World War II.

Pontiff Leads Special Prayers For Viet Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI led the world's Roman Catholics today in special prayers for peace in Viet Nam.

The Pontiff scheduled an outdoor mass and a speech in St. Peter's Square late this afternoon. He was expected to urge again that every effort be made to end the fighting in Southeast Asia.

The Pope in an encyclical letter Sept. 19 asked the leaders of governments involved in Viet Nam to halt the combat in the name of God. Later he said his appeal was not just a formal gesture, that current world conditions aroused widespread fear and he is convinced "prayer is not in vain."

The encyclical designated the month of October for peace prayers and urged that special religious services be held Oct. 4, the first anniversary of Pope Paul's speech in the U.N. General Assembly urging peace.

Candidates Warned On Posting Placards

Political candidates must be careful not to post placards or other election campaign material on utility poles in East Liverpool, as such an action is a misdemeanor forbidden by city ordinance, Police Chief A. J. Radeschi warned today.

The chief said he issued the warning because many political aspirants soon will begin campaigning in earnest for the Nov. 8 general election.

The ordinance is designed to protect utility company linemen whose metal climbing spikes might be deflected by the metal head of a tack or the card itself, causing them to fall, the chief pointed out.

A demonstration lecture sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission on atomic energy and its uses will be presented at East Liverpool High School Thursday and East Junior High School Friday.

The program, titled "This Atomic World," is designed to acquaint students with the basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources and role in industry, agriculture and medicine.

—:—

PHILLIP M. Urick will present the program which breaks topics down into student terms, including the structure of atoms, radiation reactors and fusion. Urick has completed extensive training at the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) facilities of the AEC. He is a graduate of Ohio State University and holds a master's degree in science education from Texas A & M University.

Specially - designed electronic equipment is used during the 40-minute program to show such things as sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power for cities, the use of radioisotopes to aid in diagnosis and treatment of diseases and to learn more about life processes.

Court Dismisses Roadblock Case: Urges Civil Trial

Advising the complaining witness to seek a remedy in civil law, not under a criminal statute, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today dismissed affidavits in which a Glenmoor couple was accused of "obstructing or encumbering" Hudson St. in Liverpool Township by erecting a fence.

The charge was filed by Robert Powell of Valley Ave. against Kenneth R. Ice and his wife, Pansy Ice, of Annesley Rd., who formerly resided on Valley Ave. They were represented by Bernard Fineman.

In dismissing the criminal charges, the judge sustained a motion by Richard J. Clark, assistant city solicitor. Clark said the action centers around a complaint by Powell that the Ice family erected a garage and a fence that encroaches on the right-of-way of the street. He said he discussed the case with Powell "a dozen times" and each time urged him to seek a remedy in civil law because of the question of boundaries.

The affidavits naming the Ice couple were prepared by Robert Hartford, East Palestine attorney, and then filed in the local court Clark said. But Hartford did not appear.

The judge agreed with Clark that Powell might file a mandamus or injunction action against the Liverpool Township trustees, naming the Ices as co-defendants. Clark said the case could be settled in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon after a proper survey and a study of township and county maps.

Council Committee To Check Woman's Meter Complaint

A special three-member Council committee was appointed Monday night to investigate an East Liverpool housewife's complaint that she was forced to pay $1.30 in parking meter fees to clear the way for a truck to pull into a spot in front of her home with a winter's supply of coal.

The woman's complaint was reported by Councilman Frank Duffy, who closed with a motion to refund the money the woman allegedly was forced to pay. However, his motion was lost for lack of a second.

Here is the story as Duffy related it on the Council floor::

The woman, a resident of W. 4th St., was expecting a load of coal, so she put money in the meter in front of her home and covered the top of the device with a sack so that no one else would park there.

But a "Meter Maid" happened along and told her to remove the bag. The "Meter Maid" said the city has special canvas hoods for such circumstances and told the woman to go to City Hall and obtain one. The woman obtained the canvas sack, after paying a $5 deposit, and when she returned it she was charged a fee of $1.30 for use of the meter.

"What are we going to do about these meters in residential districts?" Duffy asked. "The people have a right to get in a load of coal!"

Moving to return the money to the woman, he said: "I think it's ridiculous. People have to pay taxes and then have to go to all that trouble and embarassment to get a load of coal."

Councilman Floyd Murray asked if there is a driveway alongside the home that the trucker could have used or if the coal must be unloaded into a sidewalk chute.

Duffy replied he did not know. Murray said he would second Duffy's motion to refund the woman's money if he was sure of all the circumstances.

"I feel this merits investigation," Councilman Norman Bucher said. "But I feel we should have a committee investigate, so that we are certain we have all the facts."

Councilman Robert W. Sample, president pro tem, named to the special committee Duffy and Councilmen Harold Maylone and James Lowe.

Atomic Energy Talks Set For Schools Here

Phillip M. Urick—He'll Present Program

A demonstration lecture sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission on atomic energy and its uses will be presented at East Liverpool High School Thursday and East Junior High School Friday.

The program, titled "This Atomic World," is designed to acquaint students with the basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources and role in industry, agriculture and medicine.

—:—

PHILLIP M. Urick will present the program which breaks topics down into student terms, including the structure of atoms, radiation reactors and fusion. Urick has completed extensive training at the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) facilities of the AEC. He is a graduate of Ohio State University and holds a master's degree in science education from Texas A & M University.

Specially - designed electronic equipment is used during the 40-minute program to show such things as sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power for cities, the use of radioisotopes to aid in diagnosis and treatment of diseases and to learn more about life processes.

—:—

A BLACKBOARD talk to science classes, which deals more specifically with such topics as atomic structure, radioactivity, radiation biology and careers in nuclear science, follows the assembly.

The program is operated by Oak Ridge Associated Universities, which handles the nationwide exhibits program for the Atomic Energy Commission. The association is a nonprofit educational and research corporation of 40 southern colleges and universities.

The "This Atomic World" program scheduled here is one of 11 similar units appearing daily at high schools throughout the country.

They are part of the AEC's extensive traveling exhibit program designed to bring the public a greater understanding of atomic energy and its uses.

Court Dismisses Roadblock Case; Urges Civil Trial

Advising the complaining witness to seek a remedy in civil law, not under a criminal statute, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today dismissed affidavits in which a Glenmoor couple was accused of "obstructing or encumbering" Hudson St. in Liverpool Township by erecting a fence.

The charge was filed by Robert Powell of Valley Ave. against Kenneth R. Ice and his wife, Pansy Ice, of Annesley Rd., who formerly resided on Valley Ave. They were represented by Bernard Fineman.

In dismissing the criminal charges, the judge sustained a motion by Richard J. Clark, assistant city solicitor. Clark said the action centers around a complaint by Powell that the Ice family erected a garage and a fence that encroaches on the right-of-way of the street. He said he discussed the case with Powell "a dozen times" and each time urged him to seek a remedy in civil law because of the question of boundaries.

The affidavits naming the Ice couple were prepared by Robert Hartford, East Palestine attorney, and then filed in the local court. Clark said. But Hartford did not appear.

The judge agreed with Clark that Powell might file a mandamus or injunction action against the Liverpool Township trustees, naming the Ices as co-defendants. Clark said the case could be settled in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon after a proper survey and a study of township and county maps.

Council Committee To Check Woman's Meter Complaint

A special three-member Council committee was appointed Monday night to investigate an East Liverpool housewife's complaint that she was forced to pay $1.30 in parking meter fees to clear the way for a truck to pull into a spot in front of her home with a winter's supply of coal.

The woman's complaint was reported by Councilman Frank Duffy, who closed with a motion to refund the money the woman allegedly was forced to pay. However, his motion was lost for lack of a second.

Here is the story as Duffy related it on the Council floor::

The woman, a resident of W. 4th St., was expecting a load of coal, so she put money in the meter in front of her home and covered the top of the device with a sack so that no one else would park there.

But a "Meter Maid" happened along and told her to remove the bag. The "Meter Maid" said the city has special canvas hoods for such circumstances and told the woman to go to City Hall and obtain one. The woman obtained the canvas sack, after paying a $5 deposit, and when she returned it she was charged a fee of $1.30 for use of the meter.

"What are we going to do about these meters in residential districts?" Duffy asked. "The people have a right to get in a load of coal!"

Moving to return the money to the woman, he said: "I think it's ridiculous. People have to pay taxes and then have to go to all that trouble and embarrassment to get a load of coal."

Councilman Floyd Murray asked if there is a driveway alongside the home that the trucker could have used or if the coal must be unloaded into a sidewalk chute.

Duffy replied he did not know. Murray said he would second Duffy's motion to refund the woman's money if he was sure of all the circumstances.

"I feel this merits investigation," Councilman Norman Bucher said. "But I feel we should have a committee investigate, so that we are certain we have all the facts."

Councilman Robert W. Sample, president pro tem, named to the special committee Duffy and Councilmen Harold Maylone and James Lowe.

Teachers Hired By School Board

The Board of Education approved the appointment of five new teachers during its meeting Monday night. They are:

Ronald Evans, high school social studies; DeForest Lewis, high school electronics; Jay Williams, half-day commercial instructor; Miss Marlene Laughlin, elementary teacher at Horace Mann, and David Frost, vocal and instrumental music instructor.

The electronics program is being started in place of a metal shop program. The equipment and salary of the instructor will be paid by federal funds. The course will range from basic electricity to electronics, depending on the ability of the student, and is tentatively scheduled to begin Oct. 15.

—:—

BLAIR SAID a shorthand instructor and office practice teacher still are needed.

Frost is a student teacher from Youngstown University and will begin as soon as he completes his work there. He will be employed at East Junior High and assist in the elementary schools.

Blair pointed out the positions were not included in the cutbacks.

The board tabled action on a resolution deeding the playground area in back of Horace Mann School to the city for a city playground area.

The board agreed the resolution was not "strong enough" in that it did not stipulate the Park Commission would maintain the playground once the equipment was installed. Also it was pointed out there was no stipulation to prohibit the city from selling the ground.

The commission plans erection of a basketball court and skating rink as part of the improvement. The work is proposed under a federal program, but the city must own the property before funds can be allocated.

The board granted permission for Harry Robert Drane, son of Mrs. Pauline Drane of 663 Walnut St., to complete his senior year at Beaver Local High School, with tuition to be paid by the parents.

—:—

THE TRI - STATE Little League Football was granted permission to use the ball field at Glenmoor School for practice.

The Columbiana County Youth For Christ organization was given permission to use a classroom at Westgate Oct. 14 and 28, Nov. 4 and 18 and Dec. 2 and 16 from 3:15 to 4 p. m. for club meetings.

The Tri-State Civic Music Association will rent Westgate Auditorium Oct. 29, Jan. 17 and Feb. 25 for its programs at a cost of $50 per night.

The board voted to increase the rental charge on school gymnasiums for basketball practice from $6.50 to $10. It was pointed out the floors have been refinished and the operating costs have been increased. The more the floors are used, the more they have to be refinished, board members explained.

A $1 fee was set for administering the General Education Development test to those who want a high school equivalent certificate. Those taking the exams also must pay the cost of the test.

William Connell, a custodian, was approved for a salary increase after having completed a 90-day probation period.

The board voted to grant vacation pay to Ralph Frye, custodian, for time accumulated from September 1965 to April 1966.

The board also increased the salary of Wilbur Reese, Neville School custodian, since the number of rooms he must care for has been increased.

—:—

THE BOARD authorized Miss Kathryn Liebschner to advertise the Klondyke School building for sale. It was closed this year as part of the general cutback.

Miss Liebschner submitted the financial report, showing a balance of $457,654.25 in all funds, pointing out the final real estate tax settlement and the state foundation funds have been received. She said additional money received in the city's school bond issue has been reinvested in savings certificates to assure interest until the building program gets under way.

Prior to the regular meeting, the board held a caucus session with Robert Beatty, architect, on the opening of bids on the building program. The bid figures were sent Monday to State Supt. Martin Essex at Columbus.

The board voted to amend its agreement with Local Union 677 to include school matrons as well as custodians, bus drivers and boiler firemen. Charles M. Masters of the local said the three matrons in the system requested permission to join the union.

Robbert Van Fossan questioned the board as to why parents must pay to have their children ride school buses and asked if passage of the 3.5-mill levy will change this. He also asked about the $1 fee being charged for materials.

Blair said the free bus transportation will be reinstated if the levy passes. The materials fee will be dropped next year if the levy passes, but it is necessary this year because this money is taken from the operating fund. If the levy fails, further bus curtailment may be necessary and it may be necessary to increase the materials fee, Blair pointed out.

A discussion was held on the levy and why it is neessary.

Richard Smith, board member, commented on the death of Mr. James Hoschar, saying he was a good friend of the school athletic program. Blair was authorized to send a letter of condolence to his widow.

Blair reported a 4-inch water main leading into Westgate broke over the weekend and it was necessary to cut through the new blacktop to reach the line. The break was under the concrete walk leading to the entrance of the school. Workmen attempted to tunnel beneath the walk, but were blocked by a large boulder. It then was necessary to cut down through the concrete, he said.

The plumber said the large boulder dumped in on the line when the excavation was backfilled apparently vibrated from road traffic and wore a hole into the main line, Blair reported.

RONALD MEECHAM, a 1962 graduate of Abilene (Tex.) Christian College, is the new evangelist at the St. Clair Ave. Church of Christ. He comes here from Glen Rock, Pa., and also has served several pulpits in Texas. A native of Toronto, Canada, he, his wife and two daughters reside at 714 Bradshaw Ave.

Cashdollar said eight new buses are to be delivered shortly under the new state board of education purchase plan, the first to be delivered in Columbiana County.

U.S. Increases Interest Rate On Mortgages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of rising interest rates, the federal government has raised to the legal limit the allowable interest rate on home mortgages it will guarantee or insure.

The raise made effective Monday, from 5¾ to a record 6 per cent, was the third such increase this year.

Interest rates have soared to record or near-record levels and officials said this has drained money from the mortgage market.

Not affected by the action are mortgages already guaranteed by the Veterans Administration or insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

In announcing the new ceiling, Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, said he hoped it would mean a reduction in the premiums that must be obtained by sellers of homes in order to get mortgage financing.

U.S. Increases Interest Rate On Mortgages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because of rising interest rates, the federal government has raised to the legal limit the allowable interest rate on home mortgages it will guarantee or insure.

The raise made effective Monday, from 5¾ to a record 6 per cent, was the third such increase this year.

Interest rates have soared to record or near-record levels and officials said this has drained money from the mortgage market.

Not affected by the action are mortgages already guaranteed by the Veterans Administration or insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

In announcing the new ceiling, Robert C. Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, said he hoped it would mean a reduction in the premiums that must be obtained by sellers of homes in order to get mortgage financing.

Man Sent To Jail In Drunk Driving

A 32-year-old district man was fined $250 and costs and given a 10-day City Jail term today on a drunken driving charge by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who tacked on a 10-day County Jail sentence on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Robert E. Adkins of R.D. 3 also was fined $50 and costs on a charge of resisting arrest—a third count that rose out of his citation Thursday morning at 1:37 at 6th St. and Dresden Ave. by Patrolman Paul Blevins.

JUDGE CHERTOFF pointed out the two jail sentences must be served consecutively, which means Adkins will be behind bars for 20 days. Queried by the court about his lack of a license, Adkins said he has not had a permit since eight years ago, when his license was suspended on a reckless driving charge.

Blevins said he first halted Adkins' car on Jackson St., but when he approached the auto, the defendant drove away. He said he halted the car the second time at 6th St. and Dresden Ave. by pulling to the left of the defendant while other traffic was halted in front of him. Adkins was placed in the cruiser, but attempted to flee, the officer said.

The judge imposed a fine of $250 and costs on George Salsberry of 309 Washington St., who pleaded guilty to a charge of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

The 44-year-old defendant was cited by police at 3:45 a. m. Saturday. Officers said his auto was found on the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks near Broadway. Lt. Robert Pyle testified Salsberry was behind the wheel with the motor running and apparently trying to back the car off the railroad right-of-way.

—:—

ROBERT OWENS, 25, of 225 Grant St., Newell, was sentenced to a 90-day term in County Jail on a charge of driving without an operator's permit.

The judge noted it was the second time Owens had been jailed by the local court on the same charge. Queried by the judge, Owens said he did not make any attempt to obtain a license after serving the first sentence.

Owens was arrested Sunday at 2:59 a. m. on the River Rd. by Patrolman Jack Strobel, police said. Queried by the judge, Owens said he never possessed a driver's license. The judge told him the next offense will result in a six-month jail sentence.

Charles R. McKinnon of 2201 Pickering Ave. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of operating a 1961 model truck while it was in an unsafe condition. He was cited by the patrol last Tuesday at 10:45 p. m. at the junction of Routes 170 and 30. McKinnon told the judge he is not the owner of the truck — only an employe of the owner. The truck has not been driven since the citation was issued, he added.

Ronald L. Talbott of Grimms Bridge was ordered to pay the costs on a charge of operating an auto without a muffler in good working order. On a second charge of operating an auto without a driver's license, he was given a continuance until Oct. 13 to permit him to apply for a permit.

—:—

POLICE SAID Talbott was cited Thursday at 4:46 p. m. on Avondale St. by Patrolman Karl Samples. Talbott said his former operator's permit expired recently.

Ira A. Amstutz of Apple Creek forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of crashing a traffic light at W. 3rd and Jefferson Sts. He was cited Sunday at 6:35 p. m., police said.

Richard R. Sommerfield of Lincoln Park, Mich., forfeited a $22.50 bond on a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30. He was cited Sunday at 10:05 p. m. by the patrol.

Charles Young of Newton Falls, cited at 1:05 a. m. today by the patrol on Route 30 on a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50 - mile zone, was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty.

Rogers OK's Street Lights

ROGERS — A tentative agreement to have five new street lights and a larger light for the village square installed was approved by Council during its meeting Monday night.

Council approved recommendations by Dean Beck of the Ohio Edison Co., who had been asked to survey the village lighting.

BE GLAD YOU'RE COOKING WITH GAS!

If you're a man, you probably won't understand a lot of this. But you, lady...

You can spot one of Those Days the moment it starts. You sleep through the alarm so there's a crash-bang panic to get Dad off to work and the kids off to school. Then Junior remembers a list of things for show-and-tell and the sink stops up and so do your sinuses, and the new drapes come C.O.D. and you have 18¢ in the house and the guy to paint the ceilings shows up a week early and . . . You Know.

So suddenly it's a quarter to five and guess who calls to say he's bringing someone home? And guess who hasn't even thought about dinner.

When you're cooking with Gas, relax. Gas ranges understand women . . . especially on Those Days.

Because Gas cooks faster than electricity, Gas ranges stretch your time. Automatic Burner-with-a-Brain* and Oven-with-a-Mind* controls (only on Gas ranges) keep an expert eye on dinner while you repair your face. And the true low-heat ability of the keep-warm oven (only on Gas ranges) lets you hold dinner serving hot until you're good and ready.

Get a modern Gas range. Then, even on one of Those Days, you can count on something going right.

After Council Debate

Weed Control Ordinance Will Be 'Revived' Oct. 17

Both sides scored a victory of sorts Monday night in a City Council debate over presentation of a weed control ordinance for its third and final reading.

The legislation was given first reading on Aug. 15 and second reading on Sept. 6, squeezing through with a split vote each time. No action was taken at the Sept. 19 session, but there were indications it would be presented last night.

The legislation would limit the height of weeds to not more than 18 inches. In addition, it would require property owners to cut "noxious" weeds or empower the city to have the work done and bill it against the property on the tax duplicate.

When the legislation was not presented under the regular order of business, Councilman Frank Duffy pointed out the fact to Councilman Robert W. Sample, president pro tem. Sample was presiding in the absence of President Ernest Lowe.

Sample replied that the Council members had agreed not to present the legislation again until receiving word on the city's financial outlook for 1967. He said the measure would be expensive for the city, too, as it would be required to control weeds on city-owned property, including unused streets and alleys.

Then Councilman Floyd Murray moved to table the legislation "until a future date."

"The ordinance got two readings and then Cooper opposed it on the grounds it would cost the city too much," Duffy said. "But Council didn't mind penalizing the people, even to the extent of a $50 fine if they didn't comply. If this ordinance is not passed, you're telling the people they can allow weeds and debris to accumulate on their property."

"I feel the same as Mr. Duffy," Councilman James Lowe said. "I think Mr. Murray and Mr. Cooper are getting carried away by the thought of what the city might have to do. If we run away from our problems now, we will be running from them five years from now. I think it is time to face our problems."

Then Duffy moved that the legislation be placed on third reading. He was seconded by Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson.

All the action came in the section of the meeting reserved for "miscellaneous" comment, just before adjournment.

Sample called for a roll call vote on Duffy's motion, which was passed, 4-3.

The motion for third reading was favored by Duffy, Lowe, Mrs. Wilson and Councilman Norman Bucher. It was opposed by Councilman Harold Maylone, Sample and Murray.

Murray commented that the legislation should have been presented for third reading at the outset of the meeting under "unfinished business."

Lowe said the public should be advised that the ordinance will come up for third reading under unfinished business at the Oct. 17 meeting.

Duffy objected, but Sample ruled that the legislation could not be presented out of order.

As Duffy continued to object, he said: "You're a councilman, Mr. Duffy, you should know the rules."

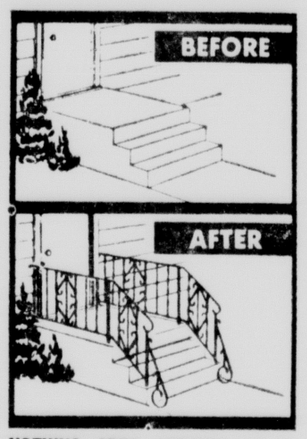

That ended the discussion and the ordinance presumably will be presented at the Oct. 17 session.

At Mayor's Request

Council Creates Mechanic's Post

Council gave unanimous approval Monday night to legislation establishing a new city mechanic's post, clearing the way for a regular maintenance program for all city - owned vehicles.

In enacting the ordinance, Council followed through on a request which it received from Mayor George E. Willshaw on Sept. 6. The mayor pointed out then that he and the members of Council had agreed earlier this year that a full- time, journeyman mechanic should be employed to handle all repairs on city vehicles, as well as performing periodic maintenance.

—:—

THE MAINTENANCE program will be established when the city occupies its new equipment building, the former Valley Motor Transit Co. bus barn on Pennsylvania Ave. The city acquired the structure in early August for $95,000.

The legislation provides the mechanic will be paid $2.35 hourly. It contains an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect as soon as it is signed by the mayor.

In other business, Council gave unanimous approval to legislation which, in effect, allows the City Board of Park Commissioners to take over the playground at the Horace Mann School, improving it and installing equipment.

The legislation empowers the Park Commissioners to buy the 12 lots comprising the playground for the token sum of $1 from the city school system. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper said the transfer of the property was necessary because law provides the city cannot spend money on property which it does not own.

The ordinance provides that the school system may reserve "the right and privilege to use as much of the ground as necessary for playground purposes whenever school is in session." It says the land originally was deeded to the school system by the Horace Mann Home and School Association.

—:—

GEORGE SERAGO, owner of the Speedy Car Wash on Broadway, appeared to request Council to vacate a section of Apple Alley extending from the south line of the property to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks.

Serago said he made the request in connection with plans for expansion of his business, including an addition to his building. Apple Alley runs parallel with Broadway, intersecting E. 3rd St. at right angles.

Serago said he expects to place an addition on the rear of his building, linking it up with other property which he owns to the east of the alley. He said he has talked with property owners in the southern section of the alley and they have agreed to sign a petition for the vacation. As part of the change, he said, he will install a driveway leading from Broadway alongside his building to Apple Alley so that the property owners still will have access to the alley.

Council referred the request to the street committee for investigation.

The street committee also was given a petition requesting grading and paving of Flint Alley between Erie St. and Pennsylvania Ave. It was signed by six property owners.

Councilman Norman Bucher asked Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey if a crosswalk could be painted on the pavement to help pedestrians crossing the wide intersection of St. Clair Ave., Lincoln Ave. and Broadway.

Councilman James Lowe remarked that the three-way traffic light at the intersection formerly included a 10 - second "walk" signal to aid pedestrians but it does not operate any more.

"Now that light changes, bing, bing, bing!" he said.

—:—

COUNCILMAN Floyd Murray said he believes part of the problem was created by establishment of a driveway into the A & P Supermarket's parking lot. The driveway links with Broadway near the Horn Switch tracks, he pointed out.

Lowe said he feels part of the problem might be eliminated by setting up a rule that traffic emerging from the driveway onto Broadway can turn only to the right.

"I still think a crosswalk would make the motorists exercise caution and help the pedestrians know where to cross," Bucher replied.

Vodrey indicated the crosswalk will be painted in a few days if weather permits.

Lowe asked the street committee to investigate complaints that storm water from the upper section of Lincoln Ave. and some other intersecting streets flows into an open gutter on Grant St.

"It causes a lousy condition," he remarked.

Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson asked Vodrey to investigate a complaint from Mrs. Orin Powell that "junk, litter and debris" have collected in abundance in her section of Beechwood.

"She would appreciate it if the city would enforce the new ordinance on control of junk," Mrs. Wilson said.

The director replied that the ordinance sets up a 55-day waiting period between the time the first notice is served on the property owner and the city can commence prosecution. The notice aready has been served, he said.

The meeting opened with invocation by Councilman Harold Maylone.

At Mayor's Request

Council Creates Mechanic's Post

Council gave unanimous approval Monday night to legislation establishing a new city mechanic's post, clearing the way for a regular maintenance program for all city - owned vehicles.

In enacting the ordinance, Council followed through on a request which it received from Mayor George E. Willshaw on Sept. 6. The mayor pointed out then that he and the members of Council had agreed earlier this year that a full- time, journeyman mechanic should be employed to handle all repairs on city vehicles, as well as performing periodic maintenance.

—:—

THE MAINTENANCE program will be established when the city occupies its new equipment building, the former Valley Motor Transit Co. bus barn on Pennsylvania Ave. The city acquired the structure in early August for $95,000.

The legislation provides the mechanic will be paid $2.35 hourly. It contains an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect as soon as it is signed by the mayor.

In other business, Council gave unanimous approval to legislation which, in effect, allows the City Board of Park Commissioners to take over the playground at the Horace Mann School, improving it and installing equipment.

The legislation empowers the Park Commissioners to buy the 12 lots comprising the playground for the token sum of $1 from the city school system. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper said the transfer of the property was necessary because law provides the city cannot spend money on property which it does not own.

The ordinance provides that the school system may reserve "the right and privilege to use as much of the ground as necessary for playground purposes whenever school is in session." It says the land originally was deeded to the school system by the Horace Mann Home and School Association.

—:—

GEORGE SERAGO, owner of the Speedy Car Wash on Broadway, appeared to request Council to vacate a section of Apple Alley extending from the south line of the property to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks.

Serago said he made the request in connection with plans for expansion of his business, including an addition to his building. Apple Alley runs parallel with Broadway, intersecting E. 3rd St. at right angles.

Serago said he expects to place an addition on the rear of his building, linking it up with other property which he owns to the east of the alley. He said he has talked with property owners in the southern section of the alley and they have agreed to sign a petition for the vacation. As part of the change, he said, he will install a driveway leading from Broadway alongside his building to Apple Alley so that the property owners still will have access to the alley.

Council referred the request to the street committee for investigation.

The street committee also was given a petition requesting grading and paving of Flint Alley between Erie St. and Pennsylvania Ave. It was signed by six property owners.

Councilman Norman Bucher asked Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey if a crosswalk could be painted on the pavement to help pedestrians crossing the wide intersection of St. Clair Ave., Lincoln Ave. and Broadway.

Councilman James Lowe remarked that the three-way traffic light at the intersection formerly included a 10 - second "walk" signal to aid pedestrians but it does not operate any more.

"Now that light changes, bing, bing, bing!" he said.

—:—

COUNCILMAN Floyd Murray said he believes part of the problem was created by establishment of a driveway into the A & P Supermarket's parking lot. The driveway links with Broadway near the Horn Switch tracks, he pointed out.

Lowe said he feels part of the problem might be eliminated by setting up a rule that traffic emerging from the driveway onto Broadway can turn only to the right.

"I still think a crosswalk would make the motorists exercise caution and help the pedestrians know where to cross," Bucher replied.

Vodrey indicated the crosswalk will be painted in a few days if weather permits.

Lowe asked the street committee to investigate complaints that storm water from the upper section of Lincoln Ave. and some other intersecting streets flows into an open gutter on Grant St.

"It causes a lousy condition," he remarked.

Mrs. Donna Richards Wilson asked Vodrey to investigate a complaint from Mrs. Orin Powell that "junk, litter and debris" have collected in abundance in her section of Beechwood.

"She would appreciate it if the city would enforce the new ordinance on control of junk," Mrs. Wilson said.

The director replied that the ordinance sets up a 55-day waiting period between the time the first notice is served on the property owner and the city can commence prosecution. The notice aready has been served, he said.

The meeting opened with invocation by Councilman Harold Maylone.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

Tug-Of-War

A special behind - scenes game that networks play, one more unusual than most, has been going on between CBS and NBC for months now.

First there was competition for the Frank Sinatra special. Naturally NBC, which presented last season's Emmy-winning Sinatra show, wanted the rights one. But CBS won out. CBS scheduled Sinatra for 9 to 10 p.m. Dec. 7.

IN THAT TIME on that historic date, NBC had blocked out a special news telecast commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Producer Frank DeFelitta had revealed details of his program early last July.

Then CBS set about planning a Pearl Harbor program of its own. It would not confirm that the hour was in production last week, but did confess "thinking about it." The time: 10 p.m. Dec. 6, the night before NBC's tribute.

IF ALL works out as planned, CBS would not only have maneuvered a good audience for Sinatra (it's no competition when an audience chooses between entertainment and documentary) but beaten NBC to the air with a special - event public affairs program.

NBC, meanwhile, has not been idle. It has rescheduled its Pearl Harbor program, now tentatively set for Dec. 5 or 9. Inside betting favors the earlier, pre-CBS date.

ABC was out of the Sinatra sweepstakes, but is definitely in the Pearl Harbor tug -of - war. It has a special on that milestone of American history "under consideration."

"I'VE NEVER been this tired before," Robert Goulet said the other day.

He had just seen an advance screening of the 90-minute television version of "Brigadoon" and was headed for Westbury, Long Island, for an evening performance of his concert tour with wife Carol Lawrence.

The young (32) singer - actor has more than a passing interest in the Loewe - Lerner musical which airs Oct. 15 on ABC-TV. He stars and is co-owner, through Rogo Productions, with executive producer Norman Rosemont.

Goulet took off his shoes and wraparound dark glasses and relaxed in the limousine taking him to work as he spoke of his crowded schedule.

He foresaw only one day off — next Sunday — in the immediate future.

AFTER THE END of the tour last weekend, he flies to 12 cities in four days for personal appearances and interviews, then guest-shots on "Tonight," Merv Griffin and "Today."

Why? To help build an audience for "Brigadoon."

Then the Dean Martin Show.

He had just signed a new act for the Sahara in Las Vegas ("night clubs are my bread and butter"). Red Skelton, Andy Williams, Danny Kaye and, hopefully, a "far-out" part in "Run for Your Life."

He'd like to write, he said, and wishes for two years off in a cottage in the woods with 17 cases of Scotch and appropriate amounts of coffee, ham and eggs.

Why, then, the hectic pace?

"Show business," he said. "When you got the ball going, you've got to keep it rolling."

PHILOSOPHICAL about his short life as a double agent in last season's "Blue Light" series, he said:

"We all knew it was no great show. But I gained confidence in myself acting before the camera. I learned how to act looking into that cold, dead eye."

No new TV series beckons. He's considering a Broadway musical for next year.

Surprisingly serious behind a surface charm, Goulet says he has to work hard at what he does, and is impressed with the fact that even such a great artist as Pablo Casals—and at 90—practices four hours a day.

He's a flying-saucer fancier, believes there's life on other planets and occasionally broods about the origin of life.

"If you never think about death," he said, "you'll never appreciate life. I once asked Judy Garland if she ever thinks about death. She said, 'Every day.'"

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

Tug-Of-War

A special behind - scenes game that networks play, one more unusual than most, has been going on between CBS and NBC for months now.

First there was competition for the Frank Sinatra special. Naturally NBC, which presented last season's Emmy-winning Sinatra show, wanted the new one. But CBS won out. CBS scheduled Sinatra for 9 to 10 p.m. Dec. 7.

IN THAT TIME on that historic date, NBC had blocked out a special news telecast commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Producer Frank DeFelitta had revealed details of his program early last July.

Then CBS set about planning a Pearl Harbor program of its own. It would not confirm that the hour was in production last week, but did confess "thinking about it." The time: 10 p.m. Dec. 6, the night before NBC's tribute.

IF ALL works out as planned, CBS would not only have maneuvered a good audience for Sinatra (it's no competition when an audience chooses between entertainment and documentary) but beaten NBC to the air with a special - event public affairs program.

NBC, meanwhile, has not been idle. It has rescheduled its Pearl Harbor program, now tentatively set for Dec. 5 or 9. Inside betting favors the earlier, pre-CBS date.

ABC was out of the Sinatra sweepstakes, but is definitely in the Pearl Harbor tug -of - war. It has a special on that milestone of American history "under consideration."

"I'VE NEVER been this tired before," Robert Goulet said the other day.

He had just seen an advance screening of the 90-minute television version of "Brigadoon" and was headed for Westbury, Long Island, for an evening performance of his concert tour with wife Carol Lawrence.

The young (32) singer - actor has more than a passing interest in the Loewe - Lerner musical which airs Oct. 15 on ABC-TV. He stars and is co-owner, through Rogo Productions, with executive producer Norman Rosemont.

Goulet took off his shoes and wraparound dark glasses and relaxed in the limousine taking him to work as he spoke of his crowded schedule.

He foresaw only one day off — next Sunday — in the immediate future.

AFTER THE END of the tour last weekend, he flies to 12 cities in four days for personal appearances and interviews, then guest-shots on "Tonight," Merv Griffin and "Today."

Why? To help build an audience for "Brigadoon."

Then the Dean Martin Show.

He had just finished a new act for the Sahara in Las Vegas ("night clubs are my bread and butter"). Red Skelton, Andy Williams, Danny Kaye and, hopefully, a "far-out" part in "Run for Your Life."

He'd like to write, he said, and wishes for two years off in a cottage in the woods with 17 cases of Scotch and appropriate amounts of coffee, ham and eggs.

Why, then, the hectic pace?

"Show business," he said. "When you got the ball going, you've got to keep it rolling."

PHILOSOPHICAL about his short life as a double agent in last season's "Blue Light" series, he said:

"We all knew it was no great show. But I gained confidence in myself acting before the camera. I learned how to act looking into that cold, dead eye."

No new TV series beckons. He's considering a Broadway musical for next year.

Surprisingly serious behind a surface charm, Goulet says he has to work hard at what he does, and is impressed with the fact that even such a great artist as Pablo Casals—and at 90—practices four hours a day.

He's a flying-saucer fancier, believes there's life on other planets and occasionally broods about the origin of life.

"If you never think about death," he said, "you'll never appreciate life. I once asked Judy Garland if she ever thinks about death. She said, 'Every day.'"

Dodgers 8-To-5 Favorites To Capture World Series

Drysdale, McNally Set For Opener

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale, who has Dodger Stadium on his side, will pitch the opening game of the World Series for Los Angeles Wednesday against Baltimore's Dave McNally, who has a telegram with 7,000 signatures on his.

Drysdale's weapon, the same one that will serve Sandy Koufax and Claude Osteen, undoubtedly is more effective and is one of the major reasons Los Angeles' National League champions have been established as 8-5 favorites over the American League champion Orioles.

In five previous World Series games at Dodger Stadium, Koufax, Drysdale and Osteen have allowed just three runs, with each showing one shutout. The almost perfect pitching has brought the Dodgers' five victories and an unbeaten Series record at home.

McNally will have to match pitches with Drysdale, armed with a much less effective weapon — a telegram of good wishes being sent by 7,000 of his hometown friends and admirers in Billings, Mont.

But, oddly enough, McNally got an unqualified nod from Manager Hank Bauer for the important opening game assignment while there's little doubt that Walt Alston, the Dodger manager, would have preferred to go with his 27-game winner, Sandy Koufax.

"Davey has the soundest arm on the staff right now," said Bauer. "If it goes seven games, we can give him three starts."

While Bauer could choose from a well-rested crew of starters since the Orioles clinched the AL pennant on Sept. 22, Alston's choice was dictated by the National League pennant race which didn't end until the final day of the season Sunday.

Both Drysdale and Koufax worked against the Phillies in a doubleheader wind-up to the tight NL pennant struggle, but Drysdale left early in the game while Koufax had to pitch a full nine innings to nail the Dodgers' second straight National League flag.

So Alston tapped Drysdale, 13-16 on the season, for the key opening-game assignment.

Koufax likely will work the second game, with Osteen, 17-14, the third. Alston can juggle Koufax into three starts if the Series goes the full seven games by working him with two days rest in the final game just as he did in beating Minnesota last year.

Following McNally, 13-6, to the mound for the Orioles will be Jim Palmer, the Orioles' big winner at 15-10, and Wally Bunker, 10-6.

But while the Dodgers have the pitchers, the Orioles have the bombers — and the No. 1 man of the year in that department in Frank Robinson.

Robinson, who hit against Koufax, Drysdale and Co., last year as a member of the Cincinnati Reds, won the triple crown of batting this season in the American League with a .316 batting average, 49 homers and 112 runs batted in.

First baseman Boog Powell also drove in more than 100 runs while third baseman Brooks Robinson knocked in 99. In addition, Powell hit 34 homers and Brooks Robinson and outfielder Curt Blefary 23 each.

The Dodgers, on the other hand, had only one player with more than 20 homers, second baseman Jim Lefebvre. Lefebvre hit 24 and topped the Dodgers in RBI with 74. Outfielder Lou Johnson drove in 73 runs.

The first two games of the series will be played in Los Angeles starting at 4 p.m., EDT, and will be televised nationally by NBC.

Friday will be an open date for travel and the teams will resume in Baltimore Saturday and Sunday, then Monday if necessary.

If the issue hasn't been decided by then, the teams then will take another day off for travel and return to Los Angeles to decide it in either the sixth or seventh games.

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Steubenville's Big Red is ranked the top high school football team in the state today in the first Associated Press poll of the 1966 season.

Coach Abe Bryan's team drew 118 poll points from a selection committee of sportswriters and sportscasters to grad first place. In the runnerup spot, 16 points back of the Big Red, is Sandusky, which finished second in last year's AP poll. Both clubs have perfect 4-0 records.

Perennial king Massillon, which annexed the 1965 championship, is in third place. Only a 0-0 tie with Mansfield Senior mars the Tigers' season thus far but Coach Bob Seaman's eleven must battle tough Niles (4-0) Saturday night on the road.

Niles ranks in fourth place followed by Upper Arlington, Warren Harding, Mansfield Senior, Lima Senior, Columbus Watterson and Cincinnati Elder.

Steubenville gained the top position on the strength of an impressive 21 - 8 victory over rugged Warren last Friday. The Panthers are the only team in the elite circle with a loss.

Hamilton Badin, formerly Hamilton Catholic, barely missed crashing the top ten. Coach Terry Malone's team garnered 23 points on the strength of a 4-0 record and a 26-game winning streak, one of the state's longest.

Scholastic sidelights--All-Ohio halfback Mike Palmer got two of Steubenville's scores as the Big Red defeated Warren for the first time since 1951.

John Reese, Dover's 145 - pound halfback, has scored 54 points in his team's 4-0 campaign.

Hamilton Taft's Benny McIntosh is the leading scorer in Butler County with 74 points in four games.

Walden "Butch" Jefferson scored five touchdowns in Mansfield Senior's first two games before he was injured. He sat out the tie with Massillon and missed Friday's win over Fremont Ross.

Spartans Cling To No. 1 Ranking

Illinois May Be Tonic Battered Bucks Need

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State gets a chance to regroup its battered forces Saturday when the Buckeyes plunge into Big Ten activity against Illinois.

The winless Illini could be just the tonic the Bucks need.

Coach Woody Hayes has made Memorial Stadium his favorite stomping grounds with seven victories in seven tries and a whooping 223-55 scoring edge.

Illinois, beaten by Michigan State last Saturday 26-10 while the Bucks were suffering a 38-22 setback at the hands of Washington, hasn't whipped Ohio since 1959 although Coach Pete Elliott's club did manage a 20-20 tie in 1963.

Still, Illinois, which lost to SMU 26-7 and Missouri 21-14, could be ready to spring a second straight upset over Hayes and Co.

"We're playing a real fine football team Saturday," Hayes told his weekly press luncheon Monday. "Their record just doesn't add up."

And Esco Sarkkinen, Hayes' top assistant, echoed his boss' sentiments.

"This club has been fighting injuries and slowly developing their sophomores," Sarkkinen pointed out.

"They hung in there all the way against Michigan State. Three of the Spartan's four touchdowns were turned in by the defensive unit, including one on a 95-yard punt return."

The illini are not expected to run much against the Bucks, despite Washington's 415 yards rushing last Saturday.

Alternating quarterbacks Dean Volkman and Bob Baponic have thrown 72 passes, completed 33 for 507 yards and had six intercepted.

On the ground, Illinois has rushed for 319 yards with Bill Huston the top gainer on 86 yards in 17 carries.

The Bucks came out of the Washington game with only their pride hurt and should be bolstered by the return of halfback Bo Rein and end Nick Roman.

Notre Dame Gains Ground; UCLA's No. 2

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Powerful Notre Dame continued to gain ground on the leaders in this week's Associated Press college football poll while Arkansas, Tennessee and Florida also made rapid advances on the strength of impressive victories.

Michigan State leads for the third straight week. The unbeaten Spartans, who won their third in succession by defeating Illinois 26-10 last Saturday, collected 371 points in the balloting by a national panel of 41 sports writers and broadcasters.

UCLA held second place with 345 points while Notre Dame was a close third with 322. The Irish moved up one notch while Alabama dropped one place to fourth.

Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. Michigan State drew 20 first-place votes followed by Notre Dame with eight and UCLA, seven.

Arkansas, Southern California, Nebraska, Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Florida round out the Top Ten in that order.

Michigan, eighth a week ago, dropped out of the rankings after losing to North Carolina, 21-7.

The Wolverines' place among the first 10 teams was taken by Florida which boosted its record to 3-0 by beating Vanderbilt and advanced to 10th place.

The Top Ten with first-place votes and total points:

1.	Michigan St., 20	371
2.	UCLA, 7	345
3.	Notre Dame, 8	322

Bowersock's Team Takes Final Events

Bob Bowersock's team walked off with top honors in men's final golf events of the season Saturday at the East Liverpool Country Club.

In the best ball of four tourney with no handicap, the Bowersock team carded 37-35—72, one-half of individual handicap the team posted a 32-31—63 to take first place.

Teamed with Bowersock were Don E. Smith, Dr. C. W. McCutcheon and Lawton Howell.

Teams captained by Harold Putt Jr. and Rick Crable tied for second with scores of 73 in the no-handicap play.

Dr. Frank Bragg's team scored a 32-32—64 for second place in the handicap event. Crable had longest drives of 285 yards on the 9th and 18th holes, while Smith was closest to the pin on No. 4 and Bill Mayers closest to the pin on No. 6.

Southern Local Frosh Team Wins

Southern Local's freshman football team defeated Springfield Local, 6-0, Monday afternoon at Springfield Local, evening its season record at 1-1.

Butch Dangelo, right halfback, swept around the Springfield Local end from the two-yard line to chalk up Southern Local's only score. The touchdown came in the third quarter after Southern Local recovered a Springfield Local fumble on the loser's 40-yard line. Springfield Local did not penetrate Southern Local's territory any time during the game.

Southern Local freshmen lost their first game of the season to Lisbon two weeks ago. The team will play Wellsville next week, the date still to be set, Coach Ron Enginger of Southern Local said.

BILL BRADLEY, University of Texas quarterback, talks to trainer Frank Medina about his knee that was injured in the second period of the Texas-Indiana game last Saturday. Bradley, the Longhorns' star sophomore, will probably be out of action for a week or two and miss the traditional game with Oklahoma Saturday in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. (UPI Telephoto)

Huskies' Moore Named As College Back Of Week

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

At the University of Washington, they think Don Moore soon will make everybody forget about Mike Garrett. But all Woody Hayes wants to forget about is Don Moore.

The Huskies' halfback, who gained 221 yards in 30 carries as Washington pounded Ohio State 38-22 last Saturday, is the Associated Press' college football Back of the Week.

Ever since the season began, the Washington partisans have been saying that Moore is the rightful heir to Garrett of Southern California, the Heisman Trophy winner and premier back in college football last year.

"I expect they're right," said Hayes, the Ohio State coach after the game. His club had been two touchdown favorites before the game.

Moore, a 5-foot-9, 212-pound junior from Tacoma, Wash., was a little dazed by it all.

"Unbelievable," he grinned in the jubilant Huskie locker room. "It feels nice, real nice."

Other nominees in the Back-of-the-Week category, were Rod Sherman, of Southern California, who sparked the Trojan attack against Oregon State and ran for a 75-yard touchdown; Dicky Thompson, of Alabama, who intercepted three Mississippi passes, and North Carolina quarterback Danny Talbot, who directed the club's upset victory over Michigan.

Bauer Leader Of Men, Keeps Players Relaxed

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer was thrust into the role of baseball manager unexpectedly, but he can hardly be described as holding down the wrong job.

The 44-year-old skipper of the American League champion Baltimore Orioles is a leader of men who keeps the players relaxed while maintaining respect. And his knowledge of the game's technical aspects improves every year.

Bauer's countenance — a rough-looking face and a rasping voice — is enough to give a rookie the shakes.

Make no mistake, the decorated ex-Marine is tough. His language is salty and he can handle himself in a scrap. But when it comes to running a baseball team, Bauer is most understanding.

"I try to keep everybody loose, more or less," he said. "I tease them and they tease me back."

Bauer has a club curfew, but concedes that he never has conducted a bed check during his managerial career.

"I get after a player once in a while — but not much," Bauer said. "I think I'm fair with them and they're fair with me. I can't ask any more than they give me 100 per cent on the field.

"People who think I'm rough just don't know me."

Bauer certainly gave 100 per cent during his playing career, being noted as one of the great hustlers of the game. With the New York Yankees, he played in nine World Series.

In the middle of the 1961 season, Bauer suddenly was given an opportunity to manage the Kansas City Athletics.

"I never thought much about managing," he said. "I thought I'd probably finish my baseball career as a coach.

"But when Charley Finley fired Joe Gordon, he asked me if I wanted the job. I took it right away, and thought later about how tough it was."

Dodgers Plan Same Lineup That Won NL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will use much the same lineup that clawed its way to the National League pennant when they open the World Series Wednesday against the Baltimore Orioles in Dodger Stadium.

Manager Walter Alston won't present his official batting order until game time, of course.

But there will be no surprises.

The Orioles' manager, Hank Bauer, has named left-hander Dave McNally, 13-6, to start in the first game.

This would indicate that percentage pilot Alston, who is blessed with an abundance of switch-hitters, will start right-handed batter Tommy Davis in the outfie'd.

The batting order probably will read like this: Maury Wills, Jim Gilliam, Willie Davis, Tommy Davis, Jimmy Lefebvre, Lou Johnson, John Roseboro, Wes Parker and pitcher Don Drysdale.

Chiefs Obtain Kicker

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs, hurt by injuries, made several unsuccessful efforts to trade for a center-back Monday, but obtained place-kicker Mike Mercer from Buffalo for a No. 5 draft choice.

McNally Gets More Advice On Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dave McNally gets another lesson today on how to pitch against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the first game of the World Series Wednesday.

The Baltimore Orioles' lefthander already has digested several scouting reports about the Dodgers. But he is looking forward to some advice from teammates Frank Robinson and Stu Miller, who once played in the National League against Los Angeles.

"I'll probably pay more attention to Stu and Frank than the scouts because some of their reports vary," McNally said. "I've only faced the Dodgers a little bit in spring training and I don't remember much about them."

McNally will review the Los Angeles hitters today when the Orioles hold a workout at Chavez Ravine.

Jets Lead AFL In Five Of Six Chief Categories

NEW YORK (AP) — A look at the American Football League statistics shows why the New York Jets are the only undefeated team in the Eastern Division.

The Jets lead in five of the six major categories, released Monday by the AFL.

They lead in total offense with 359.8 yards per game, passing offense with 258.8 yards and the three defensive classifications, total defense, passing defense and rushing defense. New York has allowed 181 yards per contest, 71 on the ground and 110 through the air.

Only Buffalo, with a 3-2 record, broke the hold by gaining 131.6 yards per game on the ground, five yards more than Boston.

Dodger Fans Gobble Up Tickets In Hurry

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ticket booths opened, there was a mad rush, and the tickets are gone.

The gates to Dodger Stadium opened at 1 p.m. Monday. In 45 minutes, 8,000 remaining tickets to the World Series were gone — at the rate of two to a customer, cash only.

Los Angeles Dodger officials said about 55,000 tickets for the home games have been sold.

Dodgers 8-To-5 Favorites To Capture World Series

Drysdale, McNally Set For Opener

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale, who has Dodger Stadium on his side, will pitch the opening game of the World Series for Los Angeles Wednesday against Baltimore's Dave McNally, who has a telegram with 7,000 signatures on his.

Drysdale's weapon, the same one that will serve Sandy Koufax and Claude Osteen, undoubtedly is more effective and is one of the major reasons Los Angeles' National League champions have been established as 8-5 favorites over the American League champion Orioles.

In five previous World Series games at Dodger Stadium, Koufax, Drysdale and Osteen have allowed just three runs, with each showing one shutout. The almost perfect pitching has brought the Dodgers' five victories and an unbeaten Series record at home.

McNally will have to match pitches with Drysdale, armed with a much less effective weapon — a telegram of good wishes being sent by 7,000 of his hometown friends and admirers in Billings, Mont.

But, oddly enough, McNally got an unqualified nod from Manager Hank Bauer for the important opening game assignment while there's little doubt that Walt Alston, the Dodger manager, would have preferred to go with his 27-game winner, Sandy Koufax.

"Davey has the soundest arm on the staff right now," said Bauer. "If it goes seven games, we can give him three starts."

While Bauer could choose from a well-rested crew of starters since the Orioles clinched the AL pennant on Sept. 22, Alston's choice was dictated by the National League pennant race which didn't end until the final day of the season Sunday.

Both Drysdale and Koufax worked against the Phillies in a doubleheader wind-up to the tight NL pennant struggle, but Drysdale left early in the game while Koufax had to pitch a full nine innings to nail the Dodgers' second straight National League flag.

So Alston tapped Drysdale, 13-16 on the season, for the key opening-game assignment.

Koufax likely will work the second game, with Osteen, 17-14, the third. Alston can juggle Koufax into three starts if the Series goes the full seven games by working him with two days rest in the final game just as he did in beating Minnesota last year.

Following McNally, 13-6, to the mound for the Orioles will be Jim Palmer, the Orioles' big winner at 15-10, and Wally Bunker, 10-6.

But while the Dodgers have the pitchers, the Orioles have the bombers — and the No. 1 man of the year in that department in Frank Robinson.

Robinson, who hit against Koufax, Drysdale and Co., last year as a member of the Cincinnati Reds, won the triple crown of batting this season in the American League with a .316 batting average, 49 homers and 112 runs batted in.

First baseman Boog Powell also drove in more than 100 runs while third baseman Brooks Robinson knocked in 99. In addition, Powell hit 34 homers and Brooks Robinson and outfielder Curt Blefary 23 each.

The Dodgers, on the other hand, had only one player with more than 20 homers, second baseman Jim Lefebvre. Lefebvre hit 24 and topped the Dodgers in RBI with 74. Outfielder Lou Johnson drove in 73 runs.

The first two games of the series will be played in Los Angeles starting at 4 p.m., EDT, and will be televised nationally by NBC.

Friday will be an open date for travel and the teams will resume in Baltimore Saturday and Sunday, then Monday if necessary.

If the issue hasn't been decided by then, the teams then will take another day off for travel and return to Los Angeles to decide it in either the sixth or seventh games.

Huskies' Moore Named As College Back Of Week

At the University of Washington, they think Don Moore soon will make everybody forget about Mike Garrett. But all Woody Hayes wants to forget about is Don Moore.

The Huskies' halfback, who gained 221 yards in 30 carries as Washington pounded Ohio State 38-22 last Saturday, is the Associated Press' college football Back of the Week.

"People who think I'm rough just don't know me."

Bauer certainly gave 100 per cent during his playing career, being noted as one of the great hustlers of the game. With the New York Yankees, he played in nine World Series.

In the middle of the 1961 season, Bauer suddenly was given an opportunity to manage the Kansas City Athletics.

"I never thought much about managing," he said. "I thought I'd probably finish my baseball career as a coach.

"But when Charley Finley fired Joe Gordon, he asked me if I wanted the job. I took it right away, and thought later about how tough it was."

Dodgers Plan Same Lineup That Won NL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will use much the same lineup that clawed its way to the National League pennant when they open the World Series Wednesday against the Baltimore Orioles in Dodger Stadium.

Manager Walter Alston won't present his official batting order until game time, of course.

But there will be no surprises.

The Orioles' manager, Hank Bauer, has named left-hander Dave McNally, 13-6, to start in the first game.

This would indicate that percentage pilot Alston, who is blessed with an abundance of switch-hitters, will start right-handed batter Tommy Davis in the outfield.

The batting order probably will read like this: Maury Wills, Jim Gilliam, Willie Davis, Tommy Davis, Jimmy Lefebvre, Lou Johnson, John Roseboro, Wes Parker and pitcher Don Drysdale.

Chiefs Obtain Kicker

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs, hurt by injuries, made several unsuccessful efforts to trade for a center-back Monday, but obtained place-kicker Mike Mercer from Buffalo for a No. 5 draft choice.

McNally Gets More Advice On Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dave McNally gets another lesson today on how to pitch against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the first game of the World Series Wednesday.

The Baltimore Orioles' lefthander already has digested several scouting reports about the Dodgers. But he is looking forward to some advice from teammates Frank Robinson and Stu Miller, who once played in the National League against Los Angeles.

"I'll probably pay more attention to Stu and Frank than the scouts because some of their reports vary," McNally said. "I've only faced the Dodgers a little bit in spring training and I don't remember much about them."

McNally will review the Los Angeles hitters today when the Orioles hold a workout at Chavez Ravine.

Jets Lead AFL In Five Of Six Chief Categories

NEW YORK (AP) — A look at the American Football League statistics shows why the New York Jets are the only undefeated team in the Eastern Division.

The Jets lead in five of the six major categories, released Monday by the AFL.

They lead in total offense with 359.8 yards per game, passing offense with 258.8 yards and the three defensive classifications, total defense, passing defense and rushing defense. New York has allowed 181 yards per contest, 71 on the ground and 110 through the air.

Only Buffalo, with a 3-2 record, broke the hold by gaining 131.6 yards per game on the ground, five yards more than Boston.

Dodger Fans Gobble Up Tickets In Hurry

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ticket booths opened, there was a mad rush, and the tickets are gone.

The gates to Dodger Stadium opened at 1 p.m. Monday. In 45 minutes, 8,000 remaining tickets to the World Series were gone — at the rate of two to a customer, cash only.

Los Angeles Dodger officials said about 55,000 tickets for the home games have been sold.

BILL BRADLEY, University of Texas quarterback, talks to trainer Frank Medina about his knee that was injured in the second period of the Texas-Indiana game last Saturday. Bradley, the Longhorns' star sophomore, will probably be out of action for a week or two and miss the traditional game with Oklahoma Saturday in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. (UPI Telephoto)

To Emphasize Discipline

New Tribe Pilot Sets Tough Role

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baseball's newest manager, big Joe Adcock, already has given notice to the Cleveland Indians: He plans to be tough.

"I'll be emphasizing discipline next season. I don't expect to win any popularity contest. I'm going to demand the respect of the players. With me, baseball is a 24-hour-a-day proposition," Adcock said.

Adcock was signed Monday as Indians' manager at an undisclosed salary. His two-year contract allows him to select his own coaches.

Last Sunday Adcock, 38, finished his 17th season playing in the majors. He has spent the last three years as a first baseman for the California Angels.

Adcock has been with the Indians before — in 1963 — when he played in 97 games — mainly as a pinch hitter. He spent three years with Cincinnati and 10 years with the old Milwaukee Braves.

He has a lifetime batting average of .277 and a total of 336 home runs. This past season he hit 18 homers, carried a .273 average and was credited with 43 RBI.

He is one of eight players in baseball history to hit four home runs in one game.

Cleveland Indians' President Gabe Paul described Adcock as "a dedicated baseball man, a fine fundamentalist," and predicted the former Angel will be "an excellent disciplinarian.

"We are willing to gamble that he will be an outstanding manager," Paul said.

Adcock warned his new team that he will be strict.

"I think there are a lot of mental errors made that shouldn't be and I'll try to improve that situation," he said.

Adcock said, "I think I still could have been able to help the Angels or anybody next year as a player.

"But I had a long talk with (Rig Rigney) and he pointed out there are only 20 big league managerial jobs in the world. I've had no real experience managing, so it's quite an honor."

Adcock said he does not plan to be a playing manager.

"I know managers are hired and fired," he said. "I played for 10 different managers in 20 years and every one of them was fired."

Adcock has been with the Indians before — in 1963 — when he played in 97 games — mainly as a pinch hitter. He spent three years with Cincinnati and 10 years with the old Milwaukee Braves.

Detroit's New Manager Names Cuccinello Coach

DETROIT (AP) — Two more coaches and a possible trade or two were Mayo Smith's prime targets today as he prepared to watch the World Series in his new role as manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Smith, who signed a two-year contract Monday, immediately named Tony Cuccinello his third-base boach.

The 51-year-old Smith, who managed at Philadelphia and Cincinnati in the late 1950s, said he felt the Tigers had "to get the pitching coordinated" and said he would do everything possible to make the pitching better.

Vice President and General Manager James A. Campbell announced Smith's appointment to the estimated $25,000-$30,000 a year job.

Coach Frank Skaff managed the team from July 14 to the close of the season.

Skaff took over the team when Bob Swift, another coach, was hospitalized with lung cancer shortly after the All-Star Game. Swift remains in critical condition at a Detroit hospital. He managed the team in May when the late Charlie Dressen suffered a heart attack. Dressen died Aug. 10.

U.S. Soccer Gets Big Boost From CBS Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional soccer in the United States received a giant boost Monday when the Columbia Broadcasting System announced a multimillion-dollar television contract for exclusive rights to National Professional Soccer League games.

Financial details and length of the contract were not disclosed, but it was learned that the agreement calls for $1 million a year for two years with options through 10 years. It will start operating next year with 18 games televised live on Sunday afternoons from May 7 through Sept. 3.

The NPSL presently has 11 teams — New York, Boston, Atlanta, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Hartford, Conn., Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Toronto and San Diego. A 12th will be added.

Five Big Ten basketball teams will face Ohio University's team next season.

Hurley Says Clay Can't Fight At All

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Veteran fight manager Jack Hurley said Monday that heavyweight champion Cassius Clay "can't fight at all and the public will have proof of this."

"Eventually, Clay must fight Ernie Terrell and the people will realize this guy (Clay) can't fight a lick," Hurley told the Puget Sound sports writers and sportscasters.

"Clay is scared to death. If he ever gets cut that will be the end of it. He'll look in the mirror to see if that pretty face is marred, then he'll hang it up."

Stanton Films Slated

HAMMONDSVILLE — Films of the Stanton Local - Wayne Local football game Saturday will be screened during the meeting of the Stanton Local Boosters Club tonight at 7:30 at the high school, Coach Glenn Trout announced. The coach also will disclose the names of the lineman and the back of the week.

To Emphasize Discipline

New Tribe Pilot Sets Tough Role

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baseball's newest manager, big Joe Adcock, already has given notice to the Cleveland Indians: He plans to be tough.

"I'll be emphasizing discipline next season. I don't expect to win any popularity contest. I'm going to demand the respect of the players. With me, baseball is a 24-hour-a-day proposition," Adcock said.

Adcock was signed Monday as Indians' manager at an undisclosed salary. His two-year contract allows him to select his own coaches.

Last Sunday Adcock, 38, finished his 17th season playing in the majors. He has spent the last three years as a first baseman for the California Angels.

Adcock has been with the Indians before — in 1963 — when he played in 97 games — mainly as a pinch hitter. He spent three years with Cincinnati and 10 years with the old Milwaukee Braves.

He has a lifetime batting average of .277 and a total of 336 home runs. This past season he hit 18 homers, carried a .273 average and was credited with 43 RBI.

He is one of eight players in baseball history to hit four home runs in one game.

Cleveland Indians' President Gabe Paul described Adcock as "a dedicated baseball man, a fine fundamentalist," and predicted the former Angel will be "an excellent disciplinarian.

"We are willing to gamble that he will be an outstanding manager," Paul said.

Adcock warned his new team that he will be strict.

"I think there are a lot of mental errors made that shouldn't be and I'll try to improve that situation," he said.

Adcock said, "I think I still could have been able to help the Angels or anybody next year as a player.

"But I had a long talk with (Rig Rigney) and he pointed out there are only 20 big league managerial jobs in the world. I've had no real experience managing, so it's quite an honor."

Adcock said he does not plan to be a playing manager.

"I know managers are hired and fired," he said. "I played for 10 different managers in 20 years and every one of them was fired."

Adcock has been with the Indians before — in 1963 — when he played in 97 games — mainly as a pinch hitter. He spent three years with Cincinnati and 10 years with the old Milwaukee Braves.

Detroit's New Manager Names Cuccinello Coach

DETROIT (AP) — Two more coaches and a possible trade or two were Mayo Smith's prime targets today as he prepared to watch the World Series in his new role as manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Smith, who signed a two-year contract Monday, immediately named Tony Cuccinello his third-base boach.

The 51-year-old Smith, who managed at Philadelphia and Cincinnati in the late 1950s, said he felt the Tigers had "to get the pitching coordinated" and said he would do everything possible to make the pitching better.

Vice President and General Manager James A. Campbell announced Smith's appointment to the estimated $25,000-$30,000 a year job.

Coach Frank Skaff managed the team from July 14 to the close of the season.

Skaff took over the team when Bob Swift, another coach, was hospitalized with lung cancer shortly after the All-Star Game. Swift remains in critical condition at a Detroit hospital. He managed the team in May when the late Charlie Dressen suffered a heart attack. Dressen died Aug. 10.

U.S. Soccer Gets Big Boost From CBS Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional soccer in the United States received a giant boost Monday when the Columbia Broadcasting System announced a multimillion-dollar television contract for exclusive rights to National Professional Soccer League games.

Financial details and length of the contract were not disclosed, but it was learned that the agreement calls for $1 million a year for two years with options through 10 years. It will start operating next year with 18 games televised live on Sunday afternoons from May 7 through Sept. 3.

The NPSL presently has 11 teams — New York, Boston, Atlanta, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Hartford, Conn., Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Toronto and San Diego. A 12th will be added.

Five Big Ten basketball teams will face Ohio University's team next season.

Hurley Says Clay Can't Fight At All

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Veteran fight manager Jack Hurley said Monday that heavyweight champion Cassius Clay "can't fight at all and the public will have proof of this."

"Eventually, Clay must fight Ernie Terrell and the people will realize this guy (Clay) can't fight a lick," Hurley told the Puget Sound sports writers and sportscasters.

"Clay is scared to death. If he ever gets cut that will be the end of it. He'll look in the mirror to see if that pretty face is marred, then he'll hang it up."

Stanton Films Slated

HAMMONDSVILLE — Films of the Stanton Local - Wayne Local football game Saturday will be screened during the meeting of the Stanton Local Boosters Club tonight at 7:30 at the high school, Coach Glenn Trout announced. The coach also will disclose the names of the lineman and the back of the week.

Mishaps Take 7 More Lives

By The Associated Press

Police were looking for the driver in a minor accident in London, Madison County, Monday night when they learned he had been killed shortly afterward in a head-on collision just east of town.

That fatality and several others, some involving deaths which resulted from accidents day earlier, kept Ohio's traffic toll mounting at its record pace during the past day.

The latest victims:

Daniel C. May, 19, 6863 Elk Creek Road Middletown.

Russell G. Bright, 21, Marysville.

Fred Neville, 76, and his wife, Edna, 71, Cadiz.

Mrs. Myra Spencer, 30, Barberton.

Andrew Hjrcula, 58, Lorain.

Miss Bonnie M. Kuentz, 20, Lakewood.

Arthur Zioklowski, 81, Cleveland.

May, a serviceman on leave from Ft. Bragg, N. C., was killed early Tuesday when his car and a tractor - trailer loaded with steel collided head-on on Ohio 63 northwest of Hamilton. A passenger in the car, Johnny E. Helton, a Sandiord, Fla., serviceman, was injured and taken to Mercy Hospital in Hamilton.

Bright had been reported racing away from the scene of the minor mishap in London when his auto went left of center and rammed another car head-on on Ohio 56, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol. He was killed and his two passengers, also young Marysville men, were injured along with Victor T. Shoffner, 38, of Piqua, the other driver, and his passenger.

The Neville couple was motoring in Scio, Harrison County, Monday when their auto crashed into a house along Ohio 151. Authorities said Neville evidently suffered a heart attack that caused him to step on the gas pedal while collapsing.

Mrs. Spencer, mother of four, died Monday of injuries received when the car in which she was a passenger hit a concrete overpass and overturned at the U. S. 21-Ohio 5 intersection in Barberton Saturday.

Harcula died Monday after being injured in a two - car crash at a Lorain intersection Sunday.

Miss Kuentz, a student nurse, died Monday of injuries sustained in a two-car collision in Cleveland Sept. 24.

Zioklowski died Monday after being hit by a car in Cleveland Sept. 29. A coroner's ruling was awaited in his case.

The $100,000 Widener and the $100,000 Flamingo, Hialeah's two feature races, are set for next Jan. 17 and March 3, respectively.

U.S. And Soviet Resume Talks On Airline Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are resuming long-stalled negotiations on direct New York-Moscow airline service.

If a final agreement is reached, jet flights between the two cities are expected to begin late next spring.

A State Department spokesman, announcing immediate resumption of the talks, said Monday night the decision gives "positive meaning to our frequent statements that we seek areas of agreement with the Soviet Union in spite of differences arising out of the Vietnamese conflict."

An agreement was reached tentatively five years ago, but U.S. officials announced Aug. 21, 1961, the United States would not sign it "in view of the international situation." The announcement came as the Communists began building the wall dividing the city of Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko are understood to have agreed in New York two weeks ago to reopen the talks.

The world's oldest royal ruling house is that of the United Kingdom, a dynasty which has existed since about A.D. 500.

Cleveland Area Due U.S. Aid After Storm

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tornado that injured at least 20 persons and damaged scores of buildings in southeast Cleveland and nearby suburbs last Thursday night was bad enough to qualify the stricken areas for disaster aid, the Small Business Administration decided Monday.

Applications will be accepted at the SBA's Cleveland office from owners of homes, businesses, churches and charitable institutions whose property was damaged or destroyed to apply for government loans at 3 per cent interest.

U.S. And Soviet Resume Talks On Airline Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are resuming long-stalled negotiations on direct New York-Moscow airline service.

If a final agreement is reached, jet flights between the two cities are expected to begin late next spring.

A State Department spokesman, announcing immediate resumption of the talks, said Monday night the decision gives "positive meaning to our frequent statements that we seek areas of agreement with the Soviet Union in spite of differences arising out of the Vietnamese conflict."

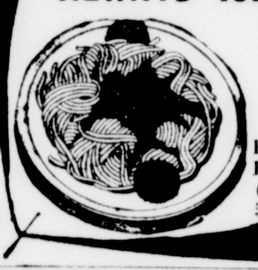

An agreement was reached tentatively five years ago, but U.S. officials announced Aug. 21, 1961, the United States would not sign it "in view of the international situation." The announcement came as the Communists began building the wall dividing the city of Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko are understood to have agreed in New York two weeks ago to reopen the talks.

3 CARD OF THANKS

OUR sorrow is hard to bear, but we know that without the comfort and consolation of our friends, neighbors, and relatives, the loss of our beloved husband, father, and son, Charles Kittridge, would have been a heavy burden. Edythe Kittridge, Robert Kittridge, Richard Kittridge, Jacqueline Pearce, and Agnes Kittridge.

Worthie Varner Jr. Our heartfelt thanks for all the aid and comforting expressions of sympathy during the time of our great loss. Mother, brother and sister.

Junior Editors Quiz on OCEAN SALT

QUESTION: How does the salt get into the sea water?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Most of the chemical compounds which make up the ocean salts come from the land. For millions of years, rain and ice have worn away rocks and carried dissolved minerals through brooks and rivers to the sea (upper picture). Every year, about 6,500 cubic miles of river water moves into the sea, carrying several billion tons of salt. Are these ocean salts of value to us? Indeed they are. The tiny marine plants and animals, which together are called "plankton" use immense amounts of ocean salts to construct the shell inside of which they live. Plankton makes the main food supply for small fish—and large fish live on the smaller ones. Salts thus help to make possible the extremely rich and abundant life in the sea. And since food from the sea is becoming more and more important to us, you can understand that ocean salts are exceedingly useful to mankind.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up the meaning of the words diatoms and protozoans, shown in the lower left hand portion of the drawing.
